NEW YORK THRILLED BY WILD WEST

In All Events of Rodeo

BY SAM LOVE,
United News Staff Correspondent.
New York, October 28.—A rodeo is

THAT'S the way Rice Krispies sound when you pour on milk or cream. The crispiest cereal ever made!

Rice Krispies are toasted rice grains. Golden-brown. Delicious for breakfast, lunch or supper. Add fruits or honey for an extra treat. Your grocer has Rice Krispies. Oven-fresh in the red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Kellogg's

in progress at Madison Square Garden and it has been attracting big crowds of the horse set of New York and it has been a disappointment only to a half dozen operators of the S. P. C. A.

Obviously for the benefit of a local hospital, the wild west performances have benefited several hospitals and no small section of the saw-bones fraternity. But to date it has been unable to cripple a single cow.

In fact, the manner in which the cows put it over on the long, slim boys from Red Gulch—or when they don't put it over, come close enough to make it interesting—has proved highly disappointing to the special gentlemen of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

Animals' Way Ahead.

Each night one or more of the cows may be depended upon to get a breezy Buffalo Bill down and step in his face. But so far, although some of the boys seem to be trying hard, none has been able to step into one of the cow's faces and even the score, which stood tonight:

Cows, 2.
Cowboys, 0.

Fortunately the prizes—which is what the cowboys work for instead of pay, they being very ignorant of what they could obtain from the box office if they organized like prizefighters or wrestlers—are not awarded on the basis of which one gets his leg broken—the cowboy or the cow. The cash prizes go for exotic skill, grace and strong bones. If they were awarded on the basis of who gets hurt most, some mean-looking pintos could go back to Arizona in private box cars and two or three of the black mule calves would be investing in saxophones and a yacht.

High Hats and Jewels.

The way some of the black mule calves have treated the boys from Wolf-Creek is nothing less than shameful. They are just onery-looking calves, plumb black and a sort of a cross between the old Texas dogey and a stray muley cow. A good, strong farm hand could pick one up and throw it over his shoulder—it is had been chloroformed first. The trouble with the cowboys is that, imbued with the sporting spirit of the west, they try to rope and hogtie the calves without chloroforming them.

Thus it is a nightly sight at Madison Square Garden to see gentlemen in top hats and ladies in jewels and the rest of it arise in their boxes and cheer—first—for the calves. Later, learning more about the calves, the really sporting element begins taking up for the cowboys.

Hoss McMillan, a big, rangy guy from the wide open territory, suffered the most spectacular of a long list of mayhems at the hands of the calves when he attempted to tie a slightly overgrown specimen introduced to the audience as a Calceico steer. This steer was a big, yellow wall-eyed steer about three feet from the ground and Hoss essayed to ride it by means of a rope tied around its middle. At first Hoss did right well, and three of the agents of the S. P. C. A., under the impression that he was going to hurt the steer, edged down through the crowd toward the arena.

Then the rope slipped and before Hoss could be rescued the steer had stood on his face and turned clear around, kicking bows and making side passes at Buddie Timmins.

Buddie Timmins lives in Brooklyn now but he was raised out in Cheyenne and it is his pleasure to appear in a derby hat and a top coat and try to fool the steers into thinking he is a tenderfoot. He waves the coat at them and then dodges. On Friday night, Buddie didn't dodge fast enough and got sidestepped. On Saturday night a Calceico steer got him down and would be standing on him yet if an S. P. C. A. agent, who had come out to help the steer, hadn't changed his mind fast and begun helping Buddie.

Buddie appeared again tonight, all taped up like the Graf Zeppelin's port fin and very game, but, some believed, not remarkably bright. There was no tape on the Calceico steer, who had come out to help the steer, hadn't changed his mind fast and begun helping Buddie.

Luther Marsh, 18, of Mill Creek, Okla., retired from the rodeo with a fractured ankle obtained while trying to keep from alighting from a horse decided Indian Sign. Luther's friends decided not to shoot him when they heard there was a good hospital only two blocks from the garden.

Woman Unidentified.

Cecil Bedford's saddle girth wasn't tight enough on an unnamed wild horse he was riding and he found himself occupying, although momentarily, the horse's stomach. He was badly kicked and removed for repairs.

Whitey Rains, of Miles City, Mont., fair and built like a Notre Dame center, fell in under his horse. The horse got up but White had to be carried away. The same thing happened to Mrs. Fox Hastings, entrant in the cowgirls' broncho riding contest.

Mrs. Hastings was taken to the Broad Street hospital where she was said to be suffering from probable concussion of the brain and was ordered to remain under observation for several days. Mrs. Hastings thereupon left the hospital at once and went back to Madison Square Garden, demanding a different saddle and the same bronk.

Although the animals have had all the best of it so far, New Yorkers are attending the rodeo in record crowds, hoping that the tide will turn. Much of the increased interest this year is due, T. Joe Cahill, of Cheyenne, believes, to the drives of New Yorkers who summered on dude ranches and got pretty roughly treated themselves by the animals.

JUDGE GOES TO TRIAL FOR SLAYING YOUTH

Weatherford, Texas, October 28.—(AP)—A mysterious red-headed man, said by defense attorneys to have been going about "cursing" the defendant, and self-defense views figured largely today in the selection of jurors for the trial of R. H. Hamilton, Amarillo attorney, charged with having slain his son-in-law, Tom Walton, Jr., last May 4. Six jurors had been chosen after 124 of the special venire of 150 appeared in court today.

the commission of appeals for the supreme court of Texas, watched the proceedings closely. Although he is a lawyer with a reputation for unusual ability, he has employed three law firms with a combined personnel of 12 attorneys to defend him.

As Hamilton went to trial his wife and 18-year-old daughter, Theresa, whose secret marriage to young Walton resulted in the shooting of the son-in-law in the lawyer's Amarillo office, were beside him.

Theresa left the courtroom about noon. Her name was not on the list of witnesses but it was understood she would testify for her father.

Told of Secret Marriage.

Walton was killed when he went to Hamilton's office to notify the attorney of the secret marriage which occurred while Tom and Theresa were students at the University of Texas.

Mrs. Grace Walton, Tom's mother, had advised her son to go to Hamilton and bare the truth in the belief that he would "understand." Hardly had the young man entered the door and confronted his father-in-law before he fell mortally wounded.

Immediately after the shooting Hamilton's only statement was "I had to protect my family." However, in questioning veniremen today a defense lawyer emphasized the self-defense angle. He asked repeatedly whether they believed in defense against the two forms of danger specified by law—actual and apparent. The implication was that even though Hamilton really was not in danger at the time he killed

Walton, he might have thought his life endangered and have been justified.

The "red-headed man" was alleged to have been going through sections of Parker county since the Hamilton case was sent here on a charge of venire from Amarillo, cursing Hamilton. Not once, however, did R. B. Hood, defense attorney who made the charge, get an admission from a venireman that this man "with molasses-colored hair" had discussed the case with the prospective jurors.

The jurors selected with one exception are farmers. Only one is under 47 years of age.

SHIP OFFICER REACHES NEW ORLEANS FOR TRIAL

New Orleans, October 28.—(AP)—

Self possessed and almost debonair, John McGouldrick, second officer of the steamship Creole, under indictment for murder of Jack Kraft, writer and adventurer, looked out tonight from the bars of a small and partially crumbling jail in the sparsely settled low country of Plaquemines parish below New Orleans, and planned his legal fight for freedom.

Sam Epstein, steward on the Creole, held as a material witness in another isolated county jail—that of St. Bernard parish—below the city, did the same thing. Judge J. Claude Meraux must show cause tomorrow before Chief Justice Charles Niel of the state supreme court why the steward should not be released on bond at the plea of his attorneys.

McGouldrick arrived in New Orleans from New York this morning in company of Sheriff Ernest Alberti and Deputy Jesse Darcey, and talking freely, termed the charge against him "preposterous." He was arrested by New York authorities last week when his ship docked on its return trip from New Orleans, and waived extradition.

Since his arrival, he has not been allowed to see Ione Orde, Kraft's traveling companion, with whom he is believed to have had affectionate relations and who is being held as a material witness in the Plaquemines jail. He, in addition to maintaining that Kraft jumped over the steamship's rail, and was shot some time after that, scouts any theory that he and the girl had anything more than friendship in common.

The charge against McGouldrick followed the finding of the body of Kraft, passenger on the steamship Creole, floating in the Mississippi river below New Orleans with a bullet wound through the heart. The discovery contradicted stories of the second officer and Miss Orde that the adventurer had jumped off the boat.

Toronto, Ontario.—Arthur Lismer, noted Toronto artist, is designing special settings, costumes and effects for the November festival of English music at the Royal York hotel here. Among the groups he is preparing is a complete scenic and costume production for the English Singers (an innovation for this distinguished society), the setting for the Canadian premiere of the modern British operatic success, "Hugh the Drover," and special treatment for individual items on the festival program.

Quebec, Quebec.—Addressing the Rotary Club of Quebec, J. L. Boulanger, deputy minister of roads, stated that the province had spent $105,000,000 on its roads since 1912.

VIOLATIONS OF WRIT CHARGED TO LAVARRE

Hall Petition Alleges Paper
Owner Refused to Surrender Stock.

Macon, Ga., October 28. (P)—Three major instances in which William Lavarre is alleged to have violated an order of court were pointed out to Federal Judge Hascott S. Deaver this morning in a hearing here of a petition for direction filed by J. T. Webb, Jr., commissioner for the Hall-Lavarre papers in Georgia and South Carolina.

Contrary to Judge Deaver's order of less than a month ago, the petition charges that Lavarre had refused to surrender new stock certificates on the Columbia (S. C.) Record and the Spartanburg (S. C.) Herald and Journal; has not only refused to surrender two notes, one for $10,000 and one for $5,000, to the commissioners, but has marked them canceled; and has, in alleged violation of the order, continued to pay himself a salary of $15,000 annually, and two employees large salaries from the funds of the Piedmont Press Association.

Hearing of the charges will be concluded tomorrow and Judge Deaver will direct Mr. Webb regarding all the points.

Through his counsel, Lavarre said that he had "no intention of willfully disobeying the orders of the court." He based his refusal to deliver the new stock certificates to Mr. Webb on the claim that such a move would be in violation of a court order in South Carolina which had attached the stock in the three papers there.

Two attachments, it was said, are pending in South Carolina against the stock. One is against Lavarre as president of the Piedmont Press Association in favor of the New York firm of Palmer, DeWitt & Palmer, and the other is in favor of Lavarre and against the International Paper & Power Company, it was said.

Counsel for Mr. Webb has pointed out to the court that the firm of Palmer, DeWitt & Palmer, he stipulated a willingness to surrender the stock certificates to the commissioner. That being so, it was pointed out, Lavarre is holding the stock against his own attachment, said to have been filed after the present litigation was commenced.

STATE VOCATIONAL EDUCATION FUND SHOWS SURPLUS

An audit of the vocational education division of the state department of education, released Monday by Tom Wisdom, state auditor, showed total receipts of $347,342.88 in the year ending June 30, and expenditures of $336,584.19.

Both the state and federal government contributed to the vocational funds. An annual appropriation of $150,000 was paid by the state, and $194,580.14 given by the federal government. A balance of $2,773.74 was left over from the year before.

Agriculture received the greatest portion of the money. Vocational training in this line cost $171,576.98. Teacher training costs were $67,820.08. There were $47,504.28 spent in home economics training and $46,178.22 in trades schools. Administration of the fund cost $3,456.03.

A balance of $10,758.69 remained in the fund. The vouchers, requisitions and books were in good order, and their efficient handling reflects credit upon the vocational training board. Mr. Wisdom stated in making the report.

ROGERS, INC., is proud of its twelve hundred or more loyal store employees. They are the chief point of contact with our friends, the buying public. Individually and collectively they represent our ideals—our system and methods of conducting business.

Some of them—occasionally—no doubt make mistakes. Some of them may, at times, fail to measure up to our highest conception of duty—fail to give you the service we want you to have—the service you have good reason to expect.

But this is not true, we know, with the great body of our employees—our co-workers—for hundreds of them are shareholders in our organization. We know that, as a whole, our store and market managers and sales clerks are just as anxious to please you—to render you good service—as we are to have them do so.

This great army of Rogers' loyal workers, scattered in 400 pure food stores and 180 markets throughout Georgia, South Carolina and Alabama, are carefully coached and trained—continually reminded—of the high ideals back of the Rogers stores.

They know the officials of this organization not only insist—but demand—from them the greatest of care and courtesy to their patrons.

They know it is the Rogers' policy to conduct only clean, attractive stores and markets.

They are constantly reminded that honest, satisfactory dealings with patrons must be their constant custom.

They are drilled, as far as practicable, into a knowledge of the goods they sell, so they can be of the greatest possible aid to the thousands upon thousands of housewives who visit Rogers stores to select their pure foods.

They know that Rogers, Inc., stands squarely behind them in every guarantee they make that every item of food must be pure and wholesome—that any and every commodity purchased at a Rogers' store MUST measure up to every representation made for it—that every sale, every transaction, MUST be satisfactory.

The truth of Rogers' slogan, "Where Satisfaction Is a Certainty", is thoroughly grounded and impressed upon every employee in every Rogers store and market. And they take pride and pleasure in seeing that it is literally applied.

More than fifty district superintendents—working under direction of the six division superintendents shown on this page—give their close personal attention to the detail of store management. They have the complete co-operation of our great army of store workers, whose loyalty to Rogers, Inc., is unquestioned, judged by their constant desire to render perfect service to our friends and patrons.

"On Minding Your Own Business"

"Prosperity does not depend on the price of stocks," says The Business Week in a vigorous editorial commenting on the crash in the stock market. "Speculation in securities has become a national obsession, but stock trading is a relatively small part of American economic activity. Mining the world's coal, making its iron and steel, manufacturing its clothing, raising its food, transporting and distributing the goods it needs—these are the basis of business. Without them, security prices are simply statistical sawdust. If business will mind its own business, the stock market will take care of itself."

STATE'S SMALL LOAN LAW WILL GET TEST

U. S. Supreme Court Agrees To Pass on Validity of Act.

Washington, October 28.—(AP)—The supreme court today consented to pass on the validity of the Georgia law regulating the loaning of money in sums of $200 or less at a greater rate of interest than 8 per cent. It announced that J. L. Morgan, indicted by the grand jury of Fulton county, Georgia, for violating the law, had presented a case within its jurisdiction and that it would be reviewed on its merits.

LAW HELD VALID BY STATE COURTS.

After Morgan's indictment the case was transferred to the criminal court of Atlanta. Morgan instituted habeas corpus proceedings on the ground that the act was void and unconstitutional, and in Fulton superior court the habeas corpus petition was denied. The state supreme court upheld superior court.

Morgan made bond pending trial of the case, the habeas corpus fight being a preliminary skirmish, it was said at the solicitor-general's office. Morgan contends that in acting as guarantor on a loan he sold his credit, a private right, while the state contends that he loaned his credit and therefore came within provisions of the small loan law covering the lending of credit.

TWO FREED ON BOND IN COLLEGE SHOOTING

Storekeeper Who Fired on Boy and Girl Students Is Released on Bail.

Richmond, Va., October 28.—(AP)—Two men were out on bond tonight and another was in the hospital with gunshot wounds as a result of a shooting near here last night in which three Washington and Lee students and their girl companions, students of Randolph-Macon Women's college, were fired upon and then chased by their alleged assailants in an automobile.

The wounded student, G. B. Wiltshire, Jr., of Martinsburg, W. Va., was hit in the neck and shoulders with a fine bird shot when he entered, with his male companion, a store for soft drinks, officers were told. Garland Falwell, 30, proprietor of the store, was arrested by Lynchburg police shortly after the shooting, charged with feloniously wounding Wiltshire. He was released on bond of $5,000 for hearing in the county court. Lloyd Goff, a companion of Falwell, charged with being an accessory to the shooting, was freed on bond of $1,000.

Police said they learned that the party of students stopped at the store, that Wiltshire was attacked in the store by Falwell, and that Falwell pursued the students' car after Wiltshire and a companion, J. L. Warren, of Enterprise, Ala., had climbed in after their escape from the building. Thomas Dunn, of Detroit, the third student, ran across a field.

The car was started by one of the girls, while Falwell and Goff followed in another machine, police said. During the pursuit Falwell, it is charged, fired upon the students' car. The chase continued through the business district of Lynchburg and ended when the girl driver halted near a policeman and called for help.

Patrolman J. L. Horsley, the officer, quoted Falwell as saying, "Arrest that man," indicating the car in which the wounded Wiltshire was lying, "he held me up and tried to rob me."

Falwell was arrested then by Patrolman Horsley upon information given by the girl.

The case was turned over to county authorities. The names of the girls had not been made public tonight.

Canary Tweets As Brave Fire Laddies Rave

Chicago, October 28.—(AP)—Two hundred firemen can be wrong, and a canary, no matter how sweet he tweets, an awful bother.

The firemen—one squad, three trucks and four engine companies, not to mention the fireboat crew—converged at Schoenhofen's brewery and scanned the area for a fire. A wailing woman, wringing her hands, rushed forward.

"Billy Boy, my Billy Boy!" she cried in anguish. "Save my Billy Boy."

She pointed. High on the brewery roof was Billy Boy, tweeting. Two hundred firemen used strong language, sotto voce. The record is not clear on this point, but the presumption is strong. They had the alternative of clanging back to their fire halls or going to the rescue of the tweeter.

Battalion Chief Thomas Geary confessed to no special love of birds, but he is broadminded. He ordered the ladders up. The nimble fire ladders began rising, their rungs, leaping and diving and sliding about the Schoenhofen roof. The canary thought it was a game, or something. He kept one hop ahead, not forgetting to tweet.

Finally the firemen saw the futility of it all. They got on and put the ladders back on the trucks. The fire truck motors throbbed and roared.

The trucks, home bound, went clang-clang. The canary went tweet-tweet.

SEEK TO ABOLISH LANIER COUNTY COURT

Waycross, Ga., October 28.—(Special.)—The Lanier county grand jury has recommended that the Lanier county court be abolished on the ground that all charged with a misdemeanor offense are denied a grand jury investigation, and that practically all warrants and civil suits are returnable to this county. This, it is alleged, nullifies the importance of grand jury investigations.

German Democrats Willing To Allow Kaiser's Return

Berlin, October 28.—(AP)—New teeth will be put in the regulations for defense of German democracy, but no new prohibition of the return of the Kaiser to Germany, if the new defense of the republic act prepared by the democrats for submission to the reichstag winter session is passed. Last July, when the old defense of the republic act expired a scare was raised in Germany and abroad that the Kaiser might return and even attempt to inspire a coup d'etat by the extreme nationalists. POLICE LAUNCH WIDE SEARCH FOR BANDITS

No Trace of Pair Who Held Up Office of Pedigree Dairies.

While police continued a city-wide search, the two masked bandits who held up officials of the Pedigree Dairies, Inc., 165 Haynes street, S. W., Sunday afternoon and escaped with $1,200 in cash, still were at large late Monday.

The robbers apparently left no traces, operating in such manner to confuse Detectives John Lowe and Neal Ellis, assigned to the case, that they were familiar with the office, and the general layout of the plant.

Telephone Wires Cut.
It was discovered Monday that the thieves had slashed every telephone wire in the office.

Richard Brown, 22, new company manager, and C. E. Trainer, assistant treasurer of the United Dairies Company, Philadelphia, were counting cash receipts of Saturday about 3:30 when the robbers entered.

According to a report made at police headquarters by the two officials, the bandits forced them at the point of revolvers to lie on the floor and submit being tied with wrapping cord.

All Receipts Taken.
Taking all cash receipts, the two made their departure by an elevator stairway, which made it possible for the bandits to enter and escape without attracting the attention of more than 40 employees of the company who were working on the first floor of the building.

Descriptions of the thieves furnished police by Brown and Trainer give their ages at approximately 30 or 35 years. One of them was dressed in dark clothes, wore a greenish hat, was about five feet, nine inches tall and weighed about 160 pounds. His companion was described as weighing 140 pounds, and of dark complexion. He also wore a dark suit.

REV. B. R. HOLMES SPEAKS AT ST. LOUIS A. M. E. CONFERENCE

St. Louis, October 28.—(Special.) The 7th annual session of the St. Louis-Missouri annual conference of the A. M. E. church closed a successful session Monday morning. Rev. J. A. Gregg, presiding bishop, read the appointments. Rev. J. E. Brewer was the entertaining pastor.

Rev. B. R. Holmes, president of the Holmes institute, of Atlanta, Ga., delivered the main address. He said the A. M. E. church in Georgia raised more money for Christian education, home missions and support of old preachers than any other state. Not only does it raise more money, but the negro people buy and own more homes and are doing more business than they do in any other section of the country, continued the speaker.

Rev. Noah Williams was endorsed for the bishopric, and Rev. Carl Flipper for secretary of the missionary department of the A. M. E. church by its conference.

Bishop J. O. Gregg paid a high tribute to the progress being made by the negro people in the south.

Flagpole Sitter Finds Variety In Competition

Competition, they say, is good for trade; and variety is the spice of life.

Just offhand, one wouldn't think that much variety entered into the business of a flagpole sitter, especially in the way of competition. But one cannot always tell.

Sitting Fool Echols has been perched on a flagpole on the Lambeth-Pedridge Motor Company's used car lot, corner Spring street and West Peachtree place, since Thursday noon.

Fred Steel, a lad of 20 years, who resides near the scene of the sitting fool's center of activities, has been making a few uncomplimentary remarks as to the aim in life of the man on the pole.

Echols returned the compliments, expressing a few ideas he entertained as to the character and habits of the "ground lubber."

One remark led to another, and Sunday the man on the pole defiantly challenged his agitating friend to sit on the ground as long as he would stay on the pole.

The lad accepted the challenge, and has taken his position at the foot of the pole. He started Sunday night at 10 o'clock and to make the thing interesting the motor company has offered him $50 to stay there 30 hours.

Echols mounted the pole with the intention of staying up there until tonight, long enough to break the existing record of 129 hours, held by himself.

Steel's entry into the sitting marathon throws a different light on the matter though. If Echols hollers "call rope" first, he will lose a forfeit to the boy; and if the boy plays out, he will lose to Echols.

So there you are. Competition has brought variety into the pleasant pastime of flagpole sitting.

SIX HELD IN DEATH OF SAVANNAH YOUTH

Face-Blackened Body of Lonnie Horne Is Found in Street.

Savannah, Ga., October 28.—(P)—Six persons were being held by police here pending investigation of the death of Lonnie S. Horne, Savannah youth whose body with the face blackened by burnt cork was found in a downtown street early today.

According to the story told police by three occupants of an automobile standing nearby, Horne and another armed man had jumped on the running board of the car in front of a lunch room in another section of the city, and after robbing them had forced them to drive several blocks.

At the corner where the body was found, they said, the car had passed close to a post, which struck Horne and knocked him off the running board. The car then ran up on the sidewalk and a tire blew out.

The occupants of the machine were Arthur E. Foster, 30; Vernon Force, 17, and R. H. Henderson, 23, all of Savannah. Following their arrest another man, Robert C. Ward, was taken into custody when he appeared at police headquarters to inquire whether Lonnie Horne had been arrested. He identified Horne's body at an undertaking establishment.

Two young women, said to have been in the lunchroom at the time of the alleged robbery, were also held.

SLANDER PAMPHLETS APPEAR IN VIRGINIA

Gubernatorial Race Warms Up as Charges and Denials Fly Fast.

Richmond, Va., October 28.—(AP)—A printed circular declaring the republican party stood for repeal of the poll tax as a prerequisite to voting and containing pictures of Oscar DePriest, republican congressman, and his wife, along with excerpts from DePriest speeches, drew official attention in the gubernatorial campaign to-night and an exchange of letters between party officials.

Henry W. Anderson, republican leader, in a letter to John Garland Pollard, democratic nominee for governor, asked whether Dr. Pollard authorized or approved the issuance and circulation of the pamphlet, and the "outrageous attempt to associate Dr. Brown and myself with DePriest." Anderson accused democratic headquarters of distributing the pamphlet and denied that the republican platform stood for poll tax repeal.

T. McCall Frazier, democratic headquarters director, who received the letter in the afternoon of Dr. Pollard, immediately wrote Anderson that no one connected with democratic headquarters has had anything to do with the printing or distribution of "any such circular as you describe." Frazier said that in so far as he knew Dr. Pollard did not know of the existence of the pamphlet and was "no more responsible for its printing and distribution than Dr. Brown or his headquarters responsible for the printing and distribution of the circular signed by DePriest and myself, which is now being distributed by friends of the coalition candidates, and in which Dr. Pollard is shamefully slandered."

Only recently, William Reynolds, of Clarkston, Ga., well-known Atlanta District Sales Manager of the Texas Oil Company, told of his remarkable experience with Sargon. Mr. Reynolds is a native of Richmond, Va., and is a prominent alumnus of the University of Richmond. His father was a first cousin of the late R. J. Reynolds of Winston-Salem, N. C., and his mother was the sister of the late B. M. Duke, American Tobacco Company magnate. Mr. Reynolds has charge of the sale of oils and oiling systems for the entire Atlanta district, covering the states of Georgia, Florida, South Carolina, Alabama and Tennessee, and there is probably not a man in the South better known in the oil business. In talking to the Sargon representative, he recently said:

"I have hundreds of friends all over the South and I wish it were possible for me to tell every one of them how much I've been benefited by this new Sargon treatment. It not only restored my health and strength, but built me up fifteen pounds in a few weeks' time."

"I'm seventy-four years old and when I was in a street car wreck about eighteen months ago, the shock seemed to completely undermine my nervous system. I suffered for more than a year from a soreness in my muscles and shooting pains in my legs. My circulation was poor and there was almost a constant ringing noise in my head. It was impossible for me to get a good night's sleep and many a time I'd have to get up and walk the floor. I suffered such agony, I fell off in weight and had a tired, worn-out feeling all the time. Nothing I took seemed to do me any good and I had almost lost hope of getting any better, when one of my sons suggested that I try Sargon."

"I hadn't finished the second bottle before the pains in my legs began to subside and my whole system felt strengthened and invigorated. I went from a hundred and thirty to a hundred and forty-five on five bottles and now I don't feel an ache or pain in my body! That ringing noise in my head cleared up. I sleep lots better and am like my old self again, with my strength and vitality completely restored."

"I believe everyone needs something now and then to stimulate their lives, so I took the Sargon Pills along with the tonic and I can see good effects. Sargon may be as much better. All my friends have remarked about how well I'm looking and I've told them all that Sargon is responsible for it and nothing else. I think it's the greatest medicine in the world."

The Sargon Man at Jacobs' main store, 14 Marietta St., is meeting the public daily and telling just what this revolutionary new medicine means to weak, sick, debilitated men and women. He cites actual facts, for Sargon's great reputation is based on actual results accomplished, not empty promises. Sargon may be obtained at all Jacobs' drug stores throughout Atlanta.—(adv.)

cators, ministers of the gospel and sons of some of the most distinguished families of America—who have enthusiastically endorsed this new, scientific formula, in appreciation of the benefits derived from its use. Only recently, William Reynolds, of Clarkston, Ga., well-known Atlanta District Sales Manager of the Texas Oil Company, told of his remarkable experience with Sargon. Mr. Reynolds is a native of Richmond, Va., and is a prominent alumnus of the University of Richmond. His father was a first cousin of the late R. J. Reynolds of Winston-Salem, N. C., and his mother was the sister of the late B. M. Duke, American Tobacco Company magnate. Mr. Reynolds has charge of the sale of oils and oiling systems for the entire Atlanta district, covering the states of Georgia, Florida, South Carolina, Alabama and Tennessee, and there is probably not a man in the South better known in the oil business. In talking to the Sargon representative, he recently said:

"I have hundreds of friends all over the South and I wish it were possible for me to tell every one of them how much I've been benefited by this new Sargon treatment. It not only restored my health and strength, but built me up fifteen pounds in a few weeks' time."

"I'm seventy-four years old and when I was in a street car wreck about eighteen months ago, the shock seemed to completely undermine my nervous system. I suffered for more than a year from a soreness in my muscles and shooting pains in my legs. My circulation was poor and there was almost a constant ringing noise in my head. It was impossible for me to get a good night's sleep and many a time I'd have to get up and walk the floor. I suffered such agony, I fell off in weight and had a tired, worn-out feeling all the time. Nothing I took seemed to do me any good and I had almost lost hope of getting any better, when one of my sons suggested that I try Sargon."

"I hadn't finished the second bottle before the pains in my legs began to subside and my whole system felt strengthened and invigorated. I went from a hundred and thirty to a hundred and forty-five on five bottles and now I don't feel an ache or pain in my body! That ringing noise in my head cleared up. I sleep lots better and am like my old self again, with my strength and vitality completely restored."

"I believe everyone needs something now and then to stimulate their lives, so I took the Sargon Pills along with the tonic and I can see good effects. Sargon may be as much better. All my friends have remarked about how well I'm looking and I've told them all that Sargon is responsible for it and nothing else. I think it's the greatest medicine in the world."

The Sargon Man at Jacobs' main store, 14 Marietta St., is meeting the public daily and telling just what this revolutionary new medicine means to weak, sick, debilitated men and women. He cites actual facts, for Sargon's great reputation is based on actual results accomplished, not empty promises. Sargon may be obtained at all Jacobs' drug stores throughout Atlanta.—(adv.)

FARM BUREAU FAVORS WHEELER POWER PLAN

Unlimited Production of Cheap, High-Grade Fertilizer Seen Possible.

Washington, October 28.—(AP)—The American Farm Bureau Federation came to the support today of Walter H. Wheeler, Minneapolis engineer, in his effort to obtain from the federal power commission a preliminary permit for the development of a tremendous waterpower project at Flathead lake, Montana, which he declared would make possible unlimited production of cheap, high-grade fertilizer.

Chester H. Gray, Washington representative of the federation, recalled the Muscle Shoals, Alabama, controversy as one "tied up in politics so deeply that it may never get untangled." Cheap fertilizer production was a strong argument of proponents of the Norris resolution for government operation of Muscle Shoals, which was pocket-voted by former President Coolidge.

"If we can get Flathead river development in ahead of Muscle Shoals," said Gray, "if we can get on the market, from Maine to California, from Mississippi to Minnesota, a high concentration fertilizer at a price that is not prohibitive, we will be very happy."

He said his interest in the Montana project was "but a continuation" of his ten years' interest in Muscle Shoals. "We are looking at the Flathead river project with exactly the same spectacles as at Muscle Shoals," he asserted. "We have no brief for hydro-electric project except that one element of promised cheap power. With the cost factor of power as high as today, there is no possibility of reducing the price of fertilizer to the farmers."

"But I am frank to say that in the ten years Muscle Shoals has been in congress, no power company has offered any material reduction, and I don't know whether congress ever will set Muscle Shoals."

He appeared in a hearing to decide whether the power permits on the Flathead river, which a 3,000-horsepower project, should be granted to the Rocky Mountain Power Company or to Wheeler, an individual applicant, who proposes to sell his power at the low rate of $15 per horsepower year to fertilizer manufacturers.

700 DELEGATES
AT GATHERING OF ATHEISTS

Moscow, October 28.—(AP)—A further campaign against religion was announced by 700 delegates attending the first Moscow provincial congress of atheists which opened here today. Among those elected honorary members were Madame Lenin, Stalin, Voroshilov, Kalinin and Kuznetsov. Declaring that religionists are becoming more active and that 42 per cent of the workers in Moscow trade unions are religious, Mr. Yaroslavsky, head of the militant atheist society of the Soviet Union, urged the delegates to redouble their efforts to kill religion. He declared that the institute of red professors was not being sufficiently active in the struggle against the church.

New York's Society Flaunts FIRST NIGHT STYLES RECALL AN EARLIER GENERATION Its Splendor as Opera Opens

BY LOREN A. HICKOK.
New York, October 28.—(AP)—In the grim and proud old edifice, the Metropolitan opera house, the social season was officially opened in New York tonight.

Official, too, it was the opening of the grand opera season of 1929—there in the old-fashioned, red-and-gold house that since away back before the war always has been about to be deserted in favor of a new and modern home yet to be built further uptown.

But opera, on the opening night of the season in New York, is ever a matter of secondary importance. It is society's gala night. Society in satins and velvets, jewels and furs that make even the most gorgeous costumes of bygone days worn by the prima donna look almost commonplace, sweeps up the grand staircase, there to see and be seen.

So once again tonight, while Lucia Bori sang the lovely wistful arias of "Manon Lescaut," the golden horseshoe softly glowed, unable to subdue even in a darkened house its regal magnificence, and as the curtain lowered and the lights came on, all eyes turned upward and swept around that dazzling curve.

Society came late. Society, ever since there was a Metropolitan opera house, always has arrived late on the opening night and now, with New York's fashionable dinner hour, by reason of the late afternoon traffic problem, set at 7:30 or later, and none of the theater curtains going up before 8:40, it is almost inconceivable that any New York audience in its entirety should be in time for an 8:15 curtain.

So all through the first act—while outside, at the smoke-filled old 39th street entrance, where the carriages used to roll up, flashlights boomed along lines of shining motor cars—there was a subdued rustle of a silent fabric through the house.

Nobody minded. It was all a part of the thrill of opening night. The "Manon Lescaut" of Puccini has been sung many times at the Metropolitan. It will be heard undoubtedly several times this season. But at the Metropolitan opening night comes only once a year. And it is still the most gorgeous event in the new world outside of formal receptions in Washington, at the White House and at the embassies.

Long Skirts Back.
One thing that made tonight's opening even more exciting than usual was the return of long skirts and waists. Fashionable New York has not taken particularly kindly to long skirts for street wear.

But for evening wear women have welcomed back the long, sweeping lines that add inches to stature and volumes to elegance and grace. And so once again tonight the old-fashioned crimson carpets at the Metropolitan felt the gracious caress of satins and velvets.

Mme. Bori, always a favorite with society audiences, and Benjamin Gigli sang the leading roles in the Italian "Manon" of Puccini, and Tullio Serafin was the conductor. It was Mme. Bori's first appearance in an opening night performance since 1912, when she sang in this same opera at her American debut.

Two members of the company made their debuts tonight—Miss Eleanor La-Mance, of Jacksonville, Fla., a mezzo-soprano, who has been singing in Italy, and Alfred Gandolfi, an Italian baritone.

INGENIOUS BOMB ON AUTO STARTER
WOUNDS DRIVER
Marion, Ind., October 28.—(United Nations).—A bomb ingeniously attached to the electric starter of the automobile of Andrew A. Legos, secretary of a mold makers' union, almost caused his death today.

When he pressed the starter button with his toe, the bomb exploded, hurled him through the top of the automobile and through the roof of the garage. He was taken to a hospital, where his condition tonight was pronounced critical.

Mrs. Legos said she knew of no enemies to the unioning. The police ascribed the attack to possible dissension within the union.

HIGH COURT TO PASS ON 'BLOW POSTS' LAW

Act Requiring Signals at Grade Crossings To Get Test.

Washington, October 28.—(AP)—The supreme court today consented to pass on the validity of the Georgia law requiring signals at railroad grade crossings.

The court announced the Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis and the Western and Atlantic railroads in attacking what is known as the Georgia blow posts law had presented a case in its jurisdiction and that it would be reviewed on its merits.

Suit was brought in Hamilton county, Tennessee, against the railroads and judgment recovered by Mrs. Clyde Morgan and the Nash Motor Sales Company in a case growing out of collision at Rabbit Hollow road crossing in Catoosa county, Georgia. They contended the accident was due to failure of the engineer of the train to give the warning required under the Georgia law.

The railroads contended the law was unconstitutional because it imposed a direct and serious burden on interstate commerce. The Tennessee courts sustained the act and approved a verdict against the railroads for $12,500, holding that the law was a reasonable exercise of police power and did not burden interstate commerce.

SHIP MUTINY SAVES CREW AND VESSEL
Constantinople, October 28.—(AP)—A mutiny which saved the lives of the crew and exposed a gang of Armenian and Turkish swindlers broke out on the Greek ship Albania today.

Furious because their wages had not been paid the crew seized the cargo which had just been put aboard, breaking open what were supposed to be bales of oriental rugs and caviar. They found only paper and dust.

Thanks to the mutiny, the police rounded up the swindlers in Stamboul. These confessed that they intended to sink the Albania when she had put out into the Sea of Marmara and claim $100,000 insurance from a Constantinople company.

Goes to Pensacola.
Miami, Fla., October 28.—(AP)—The 20-passenger seaplane Buenos Aires will leave Miami tomorrow for Pensacola to undergo repairs to its hull damaged in a take-off at Havana while the ship was on its maiden voyage from New York to Buenos Aires. Officials of the New York, Rio and Buenos Aires line expect to continue the southward flight from Miami next week.

No "Instruments of the Devil" Now! AN ANCIENT PREJUDICE HAS BEEN REMOVED

With the introduction of machinery man-power feared it was to be supplanted. By the force of AMERICAN INTELLIGENCE this ancient prejudice disappeared. Our modern "machine age" brings happiness and prosperity.

"toasting did it"—

Gone is that ancient prejudice against cigarettes—Progress has been made. We removed the prejudice against cigarettes when we removed harmful corrosive ACRIDS (pungent irritants) from the tobaccos.

YEARS ago, when cigarettes were made without the aid of modern science, there originated that ancient prejudice against all cigarettes. That criticism is no longer justified. LUCKY STRIKE, the finest cigarette you ever smoked, made of the choicest tobacco, properly aged and skillfully blended—"It's Toasted."

"TOASTING," the most modern step in cigarette manufacture, removes from LUCKY STRIKE harmful irritants which are present in cigarettes manufactured in the old-fashioned way.

Everyone knows that heat purifies, and so "TOASTING"—LUCKY STRIKE'S extra secret process—removes harmful corrosive ACRIDS (pungent irritants) from LUCKIES which in the old-fashioned manufacture of cigarettes cause throat irritation and coughing. Thus "TOASTING" has destroyed that ancient prejudice against cigarette smoking by men and by women.

"It's Toasted"—the phrase that describes the extra "toasting" process applied in the manufacture of Lucky Strike Cigarettes. The finest tobaccos—the Cream of the Crop—are scientifically subjected to penetrating heat at minimum, 260°—maximum, 300°, Fahrenheit. The exact, expert regulation of such high temperatures removes impurities. More than a slogan, "It's Toasted" is recognized by millions as the most modern step in cigarette manufacture.

Capital Business Halts in Search For Lost Chord

The state capitol Monday afternoon turned out en masse searching for a lost chord.

The daily routine of business was smoothly drawing to a close when through the stately halls spread the eerie notes of a violin's song. At first faint, it strangely swelled in volume in the restricted space, echoing and re-echoing from the walls.

As heads lifted to catch the music the measured beat of a guitar joined in, and a male voice rose in the slow rhythm of a negro spiritual.

Business—or a good portion of it—ceased. Groups gathered in the open lobbies, looking inquiringly about them. An old negro on the second floor left his seat, walked down the corridor, peering into corners. None could place the music's source. In the confusion of echoes it came from above and below, from all sides at one time. No musicians were in sight. It was mysterious, unaccountable.

The music changed. There came songs such as old-time fiddlers play. The voice still sang—once it roared. Several of the more curious set forth in search. The storied pipes of Pan could have been more easily found.

The trail of one searcher led him over the entire first floor, over the second—with peeps into both legislative halls—and to the third.

In one of the closets on the third floor near the rotunda he found three itinerant Georgia minstrels—Albert Everidge, "Cool" Burfield and Claude Bowers, of Forsyth—who, setting forth to beguile to world with song had made their first attempt at the capitol.

George Woolford, of Cambridge, Md., died at his home on Saturday, October 23, after an illness of several days. Funeral and interment will take place in Cambridge today.

Mr. Woolford resided in Maryland his entire life and had established a wide connection in banking circles there.

In addition to his widow, he is survived by two daughters, four brothers, Messrs. John, Reese, Cator and Guy Woolford, and one sister, Miss Belle Woolford.

SUPREME COURT WILL NOT REVIEW BAGGAGE DISPUTE

The Georgia supreme court Monday refused the Atlanta Terminal Company a review of an order by the Georgia public service commission requiring it to recognize baggage checks issued by all companies delivering baggage at its station and willing to give bond against its loss.

The order of the commission was issued on the complaint of the Yellow Cab Company that the terminal company was discriminating in favor of the Atlanta Baggage and Cab Company. It was charged that only the baggage checks issued by the latter company were recognized.

It was insisted by the terminal company that it should not be held liable for damages to, or loss of, baggage due to the negligence or acts of others, with whom it had not made contracts for checking baggage at the station. The supreme court, however, sustained the commission's order.

HIGHWAY BOARD TO OPPOSE FIGHT ON PERRY ROAD

Efforts of Houston county citizens to obtain an injunction restraining the state highway board from building a highway from Perry to Fort Valley will be opposed by the board, it was announced Monday by Seward M. Smith, attorney for the department.

A hearing of the case will be held in the Bibb county superior court Wednesday.

A temporary injunction restraining the construction of the highway was obtained last Thursday. The contention by Houston county in this case is the same as in a recent suit brought in Walton county, that the state highway board must spend in each county an allotment of funds based on state road mileage in that county. It is urged that this would not be done in the construction of the Perry-Fort Valley road.

STUDENTS BUILD HALL FOR HALF OF LOWEST BID

Students at the South Georgia Junior college, at Douglas, last year built a brick dining hall at half the lowest contractor's bid for the job, it was revealed Monday when an audit of the school's accounts by Tom Wisdom, state auditor, was made public.

The lowest bid was about $24,000. The entire cost of the structure erected by student help was $12,500.

The school ended the last year, June 30, with a deficit of $7,740.15. The deficit, Mr. Wisdom stated, was left over from the previous year when expenditures for the building were made.

The appropriation for the college this year is increased from $25,000 to $40,000. In 1930 and 1931 it will be $50,000. With this increase, Mr. Wisdom stated, the college easily should be able to maintain its standards and at the same time retire the indebtedness.

STATE REGISTRY OF CORPORATIONS NEARLY COMPLETE

Every effort is being made at the office of Secretary of State George H. Carswell to wind up the annual registration of corporations doing business in the state, it was announced Monday.

Under the law registrations should be filed by November 1. Mr. Carswell said that incomplete returns indicate a substantial increase in the number of corporations this year.

CITIES, COUNTIES ORDERED TO PAY GASOLINE TAXES

All counties and cities owing the state taxes on gasoline since September 1, 1927, have been notified by Comptroller General William B. Harrison that immediate payment was expected, it was announced Monday. Answers to the demand are expected within a few days. The demand was the outgrowth of a decision by the supreme court several days ago, in a case brought by Fulton county, holding that governmental subdivisions were liable for the tax. Approximately $300,000 is due the state from all of the counties and cities.

Nearly TWO M CAN'T and MAJESTIC S 6,000 Rad

Today from nearly every newspaper page you are being shouted at to "watch your step" in buying a radio set, to "look for this" or "look for that." You are being implored to "buy a strictly modern radio." You are being told that "no radio but the famous Gazookis is up to the minute, because it has the no blah, blah, blah—something that no other radio manufacturer can equal."

There is nothing to get excited about. It is so simple to buy a good radio set today, if you look for only two things, which your own mind and your own ears are fully capable of deciding. First, the performance (tone quality), and secondly, is the reputation of the manufacturer sufficient to guarantee that your investment is safe and permanent.

Majestic has always said, "You cannot buy a better radio set than Majestic at any price." We rest our case on that statement. You are the judge. We do not need to tell you that Majestic can make any sort of set, and can manufacture a use in that set, any type of tubes that are known in the radio world. Majestic has access to all the patents, has all the manufacturing facilities, has all the financial resources necessary to do the job.

Majestic is making the kind of sets that are being produced today because, point for point, we know "You can't buy better radio set than Majestic at any price." If you hear a Majestic, if you listen to its colorful tone, its faithful reproduction, if you examine its sturdy construction, its oversize power pack, its beautifully blended cabinet woods, and compare these points in a side by side test with any other set on the market at any price, then you'll buy a Majestic.

May we remind you, with modest pride, that there are nearly two million happy owners of Majestics today. Two million owners in 17 months—think of it!

Majestic is now making 6,000 sets each working day. You are welcome to come and see for yourself. You may watch them loaded on the freight cars in a continuous stream each day till the last set is aboard. This is an unusual invitation which only Majestic can make to you, because only Majestic is doing this kind of a job.

Remember, one swallow does not make a summer and one talking point does not make a good radio set. To be a good set, everything about it has to be good. Majestic does not confuse the issue by shouting one form of superiority and ignoring every other important point. Everything about a Majestic has to be good or we could not sell 6,000 a day. Is it too much to say that nearly two million people cannot be wrong?

Your investment IS safe with Majestic.

State Department Lifts Ban Which Formerly Kept Radical Nobleman From Visiting Here.

Washington, October 28.—(P)—The state department instructed the American consulate in Paris tonight to issue unconditional temporary visas to Count Michael Karolyi and Countess Karolyi, Hungarian socialists, for entry into the United States.

Secretary Stimson's decision ends the debarment of the nobles which has been in effect since the World War. While he said it was not a refutation of rulings by former Secretaries Hughes and Kellogg to keep Count and Countess Karolyi out of the United States, it was interpreted by some officials as a reversal of policy presaging a less conservative attitude toward applications for entry by foreigners of liberal views.

It was understood that the motive behind the Hughes and Kellogg rulings involved questions of the radical tendencies of Count and Countess Karolyi and a fear of subversive propaganda while in the United States. No reason for the previous decision was made public, however. Secretary Hughes in a letter to Senator Borah, chairman of the senate foreign relations committee, contended in 1925 that the publication of the reasons would not be compatible with public interest.

A formal statement on the case by Stimson today said a new investigation of the case had resulted in the reasonable conclusion that the two were not members "of any group which is prohibited entry into the United States under the existing immigration regulations." The statement added that the standards, involving the exclusion of foreign anarchists or those opposed to organized government and those with ultra-radical tendencies, as prescribed in the immigration act, are to be applied as of the date of each application.

Efforts were made from time to time since 1924 by both the Karolyis and friends in the United States to induce the state department to lift the ban on their entry. Former Secretary Hughes permitted Count Karolyi to visit his wife who was ill in the United States while he was in office, but the entry was conditional upon Karolyi's not engaging in any political activities. Subsequently, the countess petitioned the supreme court of the District of Columbia for a writ to call upon the secretary of state to issue a permit for her entry.

The petition was withdrawn in 1926. The last application previous to the present one was made October 4, 1928, in which both Count and Countess Karolyi requested non-immigrant visas. These were refused by former Secretary Kellogg. This was one month after Count Karolyi was permitted to land in New York for three days while the ship on which he was en route from Mexico to Spain was in dock.

JURY IN CATTS CASE DEADLOCKED

room at 5:15 p. m. by Judge Akerman, who asked them if they had reached a verdict.

C. V. Dickens, Tampa, foreman, said the jury had not agreed and that "it didn't look like there would be a verdict tonight."

The jury was returned to its room or deliberations, but 15 minutes later asked for further information from Judge Akerman on one part of his charge to them. The judge ordered the deliberating body taken out to supper, and said he would receive them later tonight to give any necessary enlightenment.

Judge Urges Verdict.
He had previously ordered that the jury be allowed to continue its study of the case until last night when, if they had not agreed, they were to be locked up for the night.

No indication was given as to how the jury came into court at 7:30 o'clock tonight and asked for further instructions as to the testimony they were to consider. Judge Akerman told them to consider all testimony except that of hearsay nature offered by Leah Burwell, government witness.

The judge urged the jurors to do away with any difficulties they might have as to personal opinion and to try to agree on a verdict. They were returned for further deliberation at 7:40 p. m.

Judge Akerman recalled the Catts jury five minutes later to read a copy of the charge that he gave them before the talesmen retired at 11:05 p. m. They went back to their deliberations for the second time tonight at 8:10 p. m., after the judge had emphasized the part of the charge which ordered them not to consider politics, secret organizations or the apparent age of the defendant in returning their verdict.

Judge Akerman cautioned the jury to take into consideration all facts in the case and that "no matter how reprehensible they found the plan" of Catts and Diaz to benefit from appointments which they sought from Governor Carlton they were to consider only the evidence which tended to show the existence of conspiracy as mentioned in the two indictments.

Governor Carlton's statement was followed by cross-examination by Defense Attorney J. Walter Krivos, Jr. At no time did I make any pre-judgment promises to Mr. Catts," the governor emphasized.

"I heard nothing further about the proposal except for a letter from Mrs. Catts, written for her husband, until after the case was started."

"As far as my making any political promises to the Catts is concerned, that is absolutely untrue," he continued. "Further I want to make it plain that my conversation with Mr. Catts was in no way connected with the case."

"Mr. Catts asked me if his son would continue to hold his place and I told him that as far as I knew he would unless, of course, his work was not satisfactory," the governor said.

HOSPITAL COST TO BE CONSIDERED

Committee, are Councilmen Raleigh Drennon, of the ninth; Howard C. McCutcheon, of the second; Nelson Spratt, of the tenth; W. R. Johnson, of the eleventh; Dr. J. P. Kennedy, city health officer, and Dr. H. C. Martin, director of the city laboratory.

$1,750,000 Needed.
Dr. Eskridge declared that based on government figures a total of $1,750,000 is needed to construct and equip a white unit at Grady with a capacity of 1,000 beds.

"Figures of the government estimate the cost of construction at $1,500,000 and equipment at $250,000," Dr. Eskridge stated. "This would make a 1,000-bed institution cost $1,750,000 exclusive of cost of operation."

"There is not a ward or a department in the institution which does not need additional facilities and equipment. The obstetrical ward, which I have in charge at the present time, has a 20-bed capacity, but we are delivering about 100 children a month. This is a criminal and disgraceful because we are forced to send mothers home within a week of the time of the delivery. There are numerous other conditions just as bad."

If the joint committees work out the bond issue proposal along the line discussed at the meeting Monday, no other projects will be included, and the Grady and Battle Hill measures will be voted upon separately with the tax raise needed to retire the bonds included on the ballot.

Election in Spring.
Under the law a majority of the registered voters must cast ballots in a bond election and two-thirds of those voting must vote for the bond to carry the issue. The election will be put before the Atlanta citizens the earlier part of next spring, according to plans.

Every one of the physicians appearing before the committee urged the issue, declaring that Atlanta must move to protect her sick in a proper, efficient and adequate manner in order that the well portion of the population may stay well.

"I believe Atlantans will vote a bond issue as a humanitarian measure and will put up the money to retire the bonds," Alderman Millican declared. "At any rate we should give them an opportunity to relieve suffering among the poorer classes who must depend on the city for hospital facilities."

Every one who appeared before the committee favored the bonds. The finance committee of council failed to act on a request from the Atlanta Woman's Club asking that $25,000 be provided immediately to purchase urgently needed equipment for Grady hospital because of lack of funds to meet the request.

Club Resolution.
Text of the resolution offered by the club follows:

"Whereas, the Atlanta Woman's Club has learned that the equipment at Grady hospital is in an indescribably deplorable condition, and agency equipment for Grady hospital as it exists now, and be it further resolved, that this money be used solely for the purpose of said equipment in Grady hospital building at 36 Butler street, S. E., and thereby relieve the awful conditions now existing and alleviate much suffering among the people of this district.

"ATLANTA WOMAN'S CLUB,"
"MRS. JOHN R. BORNADY," President.
"MRS. NAT KAISER," Chairman Hospitals.

A list of the equipment sought with the fund follows:

Two gas cake griddles, 4 burners, size 13 1/2x22 inches; two 5-gallon ice coolers with coils; awnings for porches; two Colson tray trucks; bath robes for men and women; four Colson reclining chairs; one bedpan sterilizer; six irrigator stands, adjustable to nine feet; two Colson wheel stretchers; 24 dozen iron chairs; two gas oxygen machines; (McKesson); 100 hospital mattresses; 100 pillows; electric dishwasher.

SENATE TO CENSURE BINGHAM FOR SPEECH

members of the senate. He is but a frail bark on the ocean of life."

"Smoke Screen."
Bingham's charge against him, he said, was "a smoke screen against a slimy, dirty trail mapped out designed from the office of the senator from Connecticut to the office of the Connecticut Manufacturers Association."

He added he did not accuse Bingham of corruption. "The plea of prejudice is the last resort of lawyers with bad cases."

"If there is anything in the record against Senator Bingham, it was placed there by his friends," he said. "The impression of the people who sent Bingham here is that they were buying an advantage and paying for it. I think they got it."

All Probe Members Reply.
One by one, four of the members of the lobby committee answered in language as severe. Finally Senator Robinson, of Indiana, who had been referred to by Bingham as the lone friend of the administration upon the committee, arose and pronounced his own condemnation upon the Connecticut senator for his relations with the Connecticut manufacturers.

"I don't approve of the transaction," said Senator Robinson. "The republican party doesn't approve it, in my judgment, nor do the American people."

Bingham, who had sat silently swinging one leg over the other as the other members of the committee attacked him, straightened up at Robinson's vehement pronouncement. Senator Gould, of Maine, was the only member to come to him and shake hands and converse with him during the stormy session.

Caraway Recalls Fall.
"I had not supposed there was so much unfairness in a group of senators," Bingham declared in his speech. "I had not supposed that for political purposes, in order to damage a New England senator that they would go as far as they did."

The lobby investigators sought vainly to interrupt the Connecticut senator, who was speaking deliberately but with occasional emphasis. Senator Caraway paced up and down as Bingham refused to yield the floor. After he finally obtained recognition, he called upon any republican regular who approved of Bingham's activities to stand up and say so. None stood.

Caraway compared Bingham's "defense" with the "defense" of Paul Sinclair, Doherty and Daugherty. Senator Walsh, democrat, Montana, another member of the investigating committee, read editorial from several newspapers assailing Bingham's action. These included some of the leading republican journals, and were used in reply to Bingham's charge of unfairness.

Hits at Norris.
Referring to Senator Norris, who as chairman of the judiciary committee appointed the lobby committee, Bingham recalled Norris' support for the democratic presidential nominee in the last campaign.

"I have wondered how, under these circumstances," continued Bingham, "he could have maintained his committee chairmanship. However, the committee which he appointed was singularly framed against any one supporting the administration."

Defending his use of Charles Evans, the assistant to the president of the Connecticut association, Bingham said "he was there to help me because, God knows, I knew little enough about the tariff with its 21,000 items."

He said a committee of farmers had actually written the rate sections for agriculture in the 1922 tariff act. "If this committee is so interested in lobbying why doesn't it get the lobbyists going from office to office actually trying to influence members?" he asked.

LAST CENSURE VOTED IN 1902.
Washington, October 28.—(P)—The senate adopted a resolution of censure of two of its members—Senator Ben Tillman and John McLaurin, of South Carolina—in 1902.

That resolution was adopted after Tillman had attacked McLaurin in a personal encounter on the senate floor. Tillman had accused McLaurin of changing his vote on a treaty. McLaurin had replied that Tillman's statement was a willful, malicious and deliberate lie.

Tillman then rushed at McLaurin and a fight ensued. The vote of censure was adopted overwhelmingly.

Life insurance, we recognize to be probably the most valuable component of the financial structure of every balanced estate. If the estate is not large or is still in its formative period, the presence of life insurance in it is constant assurance to its founder and its beneficiaries that its real value instead of depreciating upon his decease will appreciate through the maturing of insurance policies. If the estate is extensive, either in amount or in its complications, life insurance is the constant guarantee to its founder and beneficiaries that no wastage or sacrifice will occur through the disadvantageous sale of assets occasioned by the forced liquidation of obligations incurred during his lifetime or occasioned by death taxes.

The effect of insurance upon the preservation of the values of business interests in the event of the decease of business associates is unescapable. The growing experience of our most forward-looking commercial institutions directs the attention of others in business to business life insurance as the most practical modern means for assuring the stability of commercial enterprises at the time of the decease of executives.

Taken from a letter from William A. Wright, President of The Citizens and Southern National Bank to William A. Wright, Commissioner of Insurance, Atlanta, Ga.

There is no question as to the estate-building importance of life insurance.

And if you add to this estate-building quality the estate-preserving value of corporate trust service, you have provided, admirably, for the permanent financial welfare of your heirs and beneficiaries.

Any of our trust officers will be glad to confer with you and your life insurance counselor and explain in detail just how a Life Insurance Trust agreement with the Citizens and Southern National—an institution with 42 years' experience in caring for other people's money—can be of incalculable value to your estate.

Aviatrix, Two Men Killed as Plane Crashes and Burns

Eugene, Ore., October 28.—(P)—Miss Edythe Rose, Portland aviatrix, and two men fliers were killed today when their large single-motored monoplane crashed near Cottage Grove and burned. The men killed were Captain F. O. Mercer and Lieutenant W. B. Clark, of Portland.

The bodies were burned beyond recognition and were identified from papers found in the wrecked plane.

Miss Rose was co-pilot of the plane, which was on an aerial survey. Clark and Mercer were members of the Shields-Clark flying service, of Portland, an aerial photograph firm.

A. P. Wofford, a farmer, said he heard the plane's motor stop. The pilot evidently maneuvered to come down in a small field surrounded by trees. The plane dived to the ground and caught fire.

Catarrh Robs Patient of Vital Resistance

Find a man, woman or child who is afflicted with catarrh of the nose and its connecting air passages and you will always find a patient who is most susceptible to more serious diseases. Why? Science explains that catarrh interferes with natural breathing, thus preventing proper purification of the blood by the lungs and also prevents refreshing sleep. Catarrh is a constant drain upon the nutrition of the body, making the patient weak and thereby susceptible to diseases such as head and chest colds.

Your physician will tell you that catarrh is a local condition, not a systemic disease. You must fight it constantly with a local remedy that reaches the spot. Of the many remedies that have been tested by Nose and Throat Specialists to relieve the irritation and reduce the congestion of the mucous membrane the most effective and agreeable are those contained in the preparation known to you as Runin's White Wonder Salve. Applied in the nostrils, morning and night, Runin's White Wonder Salve gives quick and most delightful relief from the irritation and congestion. Clean, greaseless and absolutely safe, Runin's Salve is a perfect example of the finest pharmaceutical art—a joy and comfort to everyone who suffers with catarrhal irritation of the nose and throat.

BANKERS COMBINE TO STOP LOSSES

Street and went to the office of J. P. Morgan & Co., opposite the stock exchange.

That move presaged banking support and the bears were intimidated for a few moments.

In a few more moments buying orders were placed for Steel. Morgan brokers were reported working on the buying side. Steel shot up to 198 and other pivotal shares had similar comebacks.

When it looked as if the list would recover, Thomas W. Lamont, told newspapermen that the bankers would issue no statement; that none was necessary.

This apparently was all the bears wanted. They resumed their operations on a scale seldom witnessed. In a few minutes Steel was back to 193 and then it broke further, getting well below 190. It closed at 186, off 17 1/2 points for the day, a loss in market value of all shares outstanding of more than $136,000,000.

Bears In Saddle.

From that time on to the close, the bulls never had a single moment they could call their own. Stock after stock was depressed until the whole market structure was on the verge of collapse. And then the closing gong brought the day to a close.

Over the curb behind Trinity church scenes as wild as those on the stock exchange were being enacted. Wild scrambling to sell ruled through the day and values melted as sensationally as they did on the big board. Cities Service was carried below the previous resistance level to a new low for the present stock in tremendous turnover.

The Chicago Stock Exchange had another active day with prices crashing 1 to 50 points. Exchanges in all parts of the country were affected.

Reasons for this nervous unsettlement in the various markets were not hard to find when they occurred, but the reason for the present reaction the scope of today's. Briefly the following reasons should suffice to justify the break:

Reasons for Break.

1. Further selling out of weakened margin accounts. Brokers poured over their books all day yesterday instead of spending the day on the links, and the result of their work meant selling out of hundreds of small and large holders on the opening and in early trading.

2. Organized bear raids, seizing upon weakness shown out by the margin selling. These raids were framed on the "blue chips" with emphasis on General Electric.

3. The Chicago Stock Exchange had another active day with prices crashing 1 to 50 points. Exchanges in all parts of the country were affected.

Reasons for this nervous unsettlement in the various markets were not

Action of Banking Group To Stabilize Stock Prices Will Not Be Spectacular Powerful Influences Will Be Employed Only To Extent Considered Necessary To Stop Fall.

BY JOHN F. SINCLAIR.

(Copyright, 1929, by the North American Newspaper Alliance.)

New York, October 28.—Wall Street has never seen such a day as this one. Not even on black Thursday of last week, in the record-breaking 12,000,000-share session, was such a drastic and violent reaction in prices recorded.

Conservative, high-grade stocks, carrying splendid dividends, were dumped overboard in ruthless fashion along with speculative holdings, the sellers completely disregarding the prices the stocks might bring. The ticker, 82 minutes late at the close, showed, according to the Dow-Jones average, a break of 38.33 points for industrial and 10.04 for railroads.

Today 9,999,000 shares changed hands at declining prices, with about 3,000,000 shares changing in the last hour, all at a desperate scramble. The bulls never had a chance. While the number of shares traded in was below that of last Thursday, the trading was much more violent.

Take Orderly Rise.

As might be seen from the simple, gray-stone two-story office, the world-wide reaction of the temporary committee known as the House of Morgan works, five anxious-looking bankers were seen to enter—Charles E. Mitchell, chairman of the first National Bank, the world's largest commercial bank; A. H. Wiggin, chairman of the Chase National, the second largest; W. C. Potter, president of the Guaranty Trust, the third largest; Seward Prosser, chairman of the Bankers Trust, and George P. Baker, of the First National City Bank.

They were in conference with Thomas Lamont, of the J. P. Morgan Company for two hours. When the conference was over, they gave out no official statement of any kind. But they made no attempt to minimize the situation as it stands tonight.

Later I had an opportunity to discuss matters fully with one of the members of this committee.

"An orderly market and not a hysterical one—that was and is the aim of the temporary committee which has formed to co-operate in the present situation," said this member to me.

"It is the violent drops that cause the trouble of this market. The committee continued, after a pause. 'No body can tell to what point the stock market will go. But it is the duty and job of the banking profession to see that it does not turn into a riot and panic and that job is being done.'

Represent 10 Billions.

"While the decline was as severe and in some cases much more severe than it was on Thursday last, it was an orderly retreat. That's what I mean."

It is merely stating a fact to say that this group stepped in with their powerful support. It is estimated that they represent more than $10,000,000,000 and saved the situation Thursday afternoon when it looked as if there was no bottom to the market.

Friday and Saturday the general impression became widespread that the worst of the storm was over and that the banking control was again in safe, strong hands—if it is any further distribution and decline was to follow that it would be an orderly one.

This committee of bankers understood when they went over the situation carefully on Thursday, that while the markets on Friday and Saturday would be fairly steady, and even a considerable amount of liquidation would naturally follow on Monday after the stock brokers and investment bankers had an opportunity to go over their records. That the decline today was much more severe than they had looked for is evident from the results which have followed.

Nevertheless, the committee believes that an orderly process of distribution is under way—that it will proceed in that fashion until it has reached its natural level—whether that level be up or down. This much may be said authoritatively:

In this financial debacle is evident on all sides tonight. In the lobbies of the hotels, in the clubs, at the theaters—wherever men converge in numbers—the fall in the market is the chief subject under discussion.

Tonight one of the leading New York papers is throwing on electric lights on Forty-third street and Broadway, "The Crossroads of the World."

As I write, thousands of people are standing on the streets intently reading the electric figures. They mean more to them now than they did five years or even ten years ago. Twenty million people are vitally interested. They want to know—must know—for thousands of operators, big the United States, told the United News today.

Professor Fisher said that actually stock market prices were too low at present levels. He estimated the total prices of some stocks to be only 10 times more than annual earnings.

He explained that the terrific breaks in prices of the last few days were due to forced liquidation—the closing out of brokerage accounts of small speculators who were unable to deposit sufficient "margins" to protect the stocks they held.

"Today's heavy selling," Professor Fisher said, "is a continuation of last week's, indicating that the forced selling had not been completed. Many weak accounts without adequate margins have been cleaned out."

"I believe the market is too low, but there are so many weak margin accounts that the only way out is to complete the liquidation."

Whether the liquidation is completed today or in the near future, the market will be a bargain counter for people who are cashing power."

12 to 1 Ratio.

Regarding his statement that stocks after today's break were selling at only 10 times their annual earnings, the great economist added that he thought a ratio of 12 to 1 was reasonable.

Professor Fisher expressed surprise at today's weakness and said he was optimistic regarding business generally.

"The whole affair is a brainstorm in the market itself," he said. "It was brought about by the expectation of unprecedented earnings in various companies. No many went into debt to share in this prosperity that the credit situation was put in a very vulnerable position."

"Bears took a very careful census of this condition Wednesday. An organized bear raid sought to set off those accounts with too much margin."

"Once started the selling panic was carried to excess. It was a body blow to holders of stocks even after the panic had subsided."

The subsequent liquidation has brought stock prices too low in the process of rectifying credit. The break had nothing to do with earnings. It was purely technical."

shares outstanding. Its 6 1/2 point drop cut $200,000,000 off its market value—$52,000,000 an hour drop.

Bethlehem Steel dropped 9 3/4 points to 94 1/8. Yet its published report issued September 30 last showed a net profit of $13.30 per share in the nine months' period.

No one can or will predict how far the drop will go. The bankers are not fixing prices artificially. The bankers committee are out to see that the market finds its own level—but in an orderly and natural way—not a disorderly and artificial way. This, they consider to be their job.

X-Ray Reveals Lost Forces.

Mrs. Mary de Sainte Croix, of Jersey, England, has been walking about for nearly seven years with a pair of arterial forces in her abdomen. Early in 1923 she underwent an operation in a London hospital for internal trouble. Afterward she experienced pains which became so acute that an X-ray was taken recently and revealed the forces. An operation will be necessary to remove the instrument.

PERHAPS YOUR CHILD NEEDS MILK OF MAGNESIA

Too much acid always sickens

A GROWING child's system is less tolerant of an acid condition than that of a grown person. That's why a lot of sleep and a diet rich in fruits and the leafy vegetables is important to children. During sleep the acids of the body are consumed and the alkaline balance, so essential to health, is restored.

In spite of all your care, a child's system will occasionally become too acid. Of course you can correct this by rest and diet. But that takes time. The instant way is with an alkaline provided by Nature for the purpose. Milk of Magnesia.

You can make no mistake about the best form of magnesia if you follow the example set by physicians the world over. For fifty years, they have prescribed Phillips Milk of Magnesia to correct disorders caused by too much acid. In adults; sour stomach, nausea, gas, heartburn, indigestion. In children; bad breath, sour belching, frequent vomiting, feverishness, colic, diarrhea. Phillips Milk of Magnesia is in the form declared most effective by the U. S. Dispensary. Its action is thorough; yet there is nothing so soothing to an ailing stomach.

A spoonful of Phillips Milk of Magnesia in a glass of water and in five minutes you are happy, smiling! All symptoms of over-acidity soon disappear. A mother's duty is so much easier when she uses it. Children accept it so readily. Nothing could be superior for keeping the bowels open in constipation, colds, and children's diseases.

Phillips Milk of Magnesia has many important uses in every household. Each package contains full directions, well worth reading. 25¢ and 50¢ bottles at all drug stores.

Pantages Weeps as Children Robbed by Law of Parents Visit Him in County Jail

Two Sons and Daughter of Theater Magnate See Both Mother and Father in Prison.

By Duane Hennessy, United News Staff Correspondent.

Los Angeles, October 28.—(United News.)—Alexander Pantages, whose face never mirrored an emotion through four long weeks of trial or in the racking moments when a jury ordered him to San Quentin state penitentiary on a charge of attacking 17-year-old Eunice Pringle, went today as his children visited him in the county jail.

They found him garbed in a prisoner's blue denim uniform, no longer the nattily garbed theater veteran, but merely "Los Angeles County 119-251, Tank 10-B."

The multi-millionaire had just been fingerprinted and "mugged" for the rogues' gallery when his daughter, Carmen, and his sons, Rodney and Lloyd, entered the conference room.

They showed the sorrow of two convictions within two months—their father for statutory assault, and their mother, Mrs. Lois Pantages, for manslaughter in the death of Juro Rokimoto, whose automobile was struck by hers.

Pantages was at one side of a long table and his children on the other, as required. What passed between them was not known, but the faces of all were tear-streaked when the interview ended.

The showman, who began his climb to wealth in the Alaskan gold fields, held by his earlier charge that he had been framed by Miss Pringle and that she was a tool in the hands of others who wished to get part of the more than $200,000 he obtained through sale of his theaters.

Girl Visits Attorney.

Another visitor to the hall of justice today was Miss Pringle, a university co-ed who gave up school for a career and charged that Pantages lured her to his secluded consultation room, ostensibly to discuss booking her act, and then attacked her.

The girl was accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Irene Pringle, and her father, Dr. Lewis Pringle, when she arrived at District Attorney Farris' office. Mrs. Marguerite Fairchild, the policeman who guarded the dancer throughout the trial, was relieved of her charge.

"I was worried when the jury stayed out so long," Miss Pringle said, "but I never lost confidence that they would find him guilty. I wasn't thinking of myself, but I wanted justice done."

The jury, which had the case for 53 hours, made sentence of from 1 to 50 years mandatory by their penitentiary recommendation. Superior Judge Charles Fricke will pass sentence Friday. The state parole board will set the exact length of the sentence at the end of one year.

Pantages was placed in a cell next to Rush Meadows, former college athlete convicted of fraud, and Ignace Cohen, convicted drug peddler. The multi-millionaire spent part of the morning in his cell, all three smoking cigar cigars provided by the new arrival.

"Raw Deal."

"It was a raw deal when a woman can frame a man like that," Pantages said. "I didn't have a chance with that jury. I'm not through fighting yet. I have instructed my lawyers to carry the case to the highest court."

The blow of the conviction complicated the condition of Mrs. Pantages, who has been suffering from a nervous collapse and bronchitis.

Dr. Leland S. Chapman, her personal physician, said that she "is a very ill woman," but denied reports that her life was in danger.

"Mrs. Pantages learned of the verdict Sunday night and it made her condition much worse," he said.

The Pantages home may not lose both mother and father, as it is possible that Mrs. Pantages will be granted probation when she appears for sentencing a week from Friday.

It was learned today that Pantages was convicted on the eighth ballot when Mrs. Christina O. Ulrich, housewife, yielded.

On the first ballot eight voted guilty, three not guilty and one undecided. The three were Mrs. Ulrich, Mrs. William Ingels and Mrs. Lotta C. Steiner. The second and third ballots were 9 to 3. The fourth was fifth, 10 to 2. Mrs. Ingels changing.

On the sixth, 11 guilty with leniency and one not guilty. Then after hearing evidence re-read, Mrs. Ulrich yielded and all 12 voted guilty with recommendation of leniency.

After the verdict was returned Mrs. Ulrich insisted the word was "leniency" and not "clemency," but Foreman Frank E. Frantz said "clemency," as read by him, had been agreed upon.

In California, however, the court can only pass the mandatory sentence. The minimum, up to 50 years, will be determined by the parole board.

JUDGE TO PROBE KILLING OF WOMAN IN NORTH CAROLINA

Raleigh, N. C., October 28.—(AP)—Governor O. Max Gardner announced tonight that Judge P. A. McElroy will go to Gastonia Monday, November 4, for the purpose of sitting as a committee magistrate in an investigation of the killing of Ella May Wiggin in Gastonia county, September 14.

His announcement followed a conference with D. G. Brummitt, attorney-general; N. A. Townsend, executive counsel of Solicitor John G. Carpenter, who came to Raleigh at the request of the governor.

Last week a Gastonia grand jury reported "not a true bill" with respect to hills of indictments against nine men alleged to have been members of a mob which shot and killed Mrs. Wiggins, mother of five children.

Governor Gardner, in his statement of the grand jury to indict the accused persons, offered a $400 reward, the maximum allowed by law, for arrest and conviction of the guilty parties.

FLORIDA FARMER REPORTED MISSING TO AUTHORITIES

Bradenton, Fla., October 28.—(AP)—Authorities were asked today to investigate the disappearance of Robert Wiseman, 26, former University of Florida engineering student and farmer resident at Ellenton, north of here, who has been missing from his home since Friday morning.

Dressed in his working clothes, the young man left his place saying he was going to Sun City, some few miles away, to inspect timberland. His continued absence resulted in his wife and family reporting the case to the authorities.

Relatives could advance no reason for his disappearance and while they say that he had no known enemies they have expressed fear that he met with foul play.

The disappearance of Wiseman comes closely on the heels of the murder of Charlie Freeman, well-known man about town, whose body was found north of here Friday, six days after he had left a local hotel in response to a call. Authorities are still investigating this case, but nothing has been found to clear up the mystery.

DETROIT MAN DENIES CHARGE OF KIDNAPING

Detroit, October 28.—(AP)—A plea of not guilty to a charge of kidnaping 5-year-old Jackie Thompson was entered in recorder's court today by James Fernandez, arrested last night a short time after Jackie was returned unharmed to his parents by police. Bail of $300,000, two sureties, was set.

A warrant charging kidnaping was recommended by Prosecutor James E. Chenot against Fernandez and an unnamed man.

ENGLISHMAN GETS THREE-YEAR TERM; ROBBED AMERICAN

London, October 28.—(AP)—Ronald Bateman today was found guilty of robbery with violence against Robert Eaton, American schoolmaster, last August, and was sentenced to three years of penal servitude.

James Moore, who had been accused of receiving stolen property, also was found guilty but sentence was postponed.

Eaton, who was traveling in England, was found in his Mayfair flat on the morning of August 13 severely beaten. Bateman, who had spent the preceding evening in Eaton's flat, was subsequently arrested and charged with beating and robbing the American.

CONSTABLE IS HELD ON MURDER CHARGE IN TENNESSEE

Etowah, Tenn., October 28.—(AP)—Gus Swan, Polk county constable, today was charged with first degree murder for the slaying of Orville Burger, 28, yesterday while the latter was fleeing arrest, after offering the officer a drink of liquor.

Burger, after the shooting, was taken to a hospital where he died about five hours later.

Swan said Burger approached him and offered him a drink from a pint bottle of liquor and that when he sought to take the man under arrest he broke and ran.

The officer said Burger fled across a field and he, Swan, in attempting to follow, got caught in a fence. Burger, on seeing him caught, Swan said, turned and picked up a rock as though to attack him. The constable said he then fired on the man.

Physicians who treated Burger at the hospital said he was shot in the back.

Swan waived preliminary hearing and was released under $5,000 bond pending action by the grand jury, which meets the first Monday in November.

at Estouville. Mr. Coles' widow, his son, Peyton S. Coles, and Oscar P. McCord, Jr., of New Orleans, accompanied the body from Atlanta.

M., and of the Yearab temple, Capital City and Druid Hills clubs, of Atlanta. He also was a member of the Phi Gamma Delta fraternity at Rensselaer college and assisted in organizing a chapter of the fraternity at the Georgia School of Technology.

Mr. Coles is survived by his widow, who before her marriage was Miss Mary Norris, of Raleigh, N. C.; a son, Peyton Skipper Coles; a sister, Mrs. Edward MacKenzie, of East Orange, N. MILLIONS WASTED IN MEDFLY FIGHT, CONGRESSMAN SAYS

Washington, October 28.—(AP)—Chairman Wood of the house appropriations committee, charged in a statement today that "a woful waste of public funds" had been involved in the Mediterranean fruit fly eradication in Florida as well as unnecessary destruction of "millions of dollars worth of private property."

Wood said he would recommend the appropriation of not more than $2,000,000 or $3,000,000 "for continuation of the work for which he said the agriculture department estimated $36,000,000 would be needed, and the budget bureau $26,000,000."

His statement was given to the press prior to that of an independent committee which asserted that funds for eradication had been so effectively used that no infestation was now apparent in Florida and recommended the continuation of eradication work.

The appropriations committee chairman said reports of "waste and profligacy" had come to him from all over Florida and that he had suggested to Secretary Hyde that the committee which reported today be sent to Florida.

CZECH-SLOVAKIA CABINET, DEFEATED AT POLLS, RESIGNS

Prague, Czechoslovakia, October 28.—(AP)—Defeated in the Czechoslovak general elections yesterday, Prime Minister Frantisek Udrza today handed President Masaryk the resignation of his cabinet.

The president asked him to remain at his post until a new government could be formed.

Parliament was dissolved on September 25 and the general elections were set for yesterday, after the defeat of the coalition government. The voting was for parties and not for individual candidates.

The formation of another coalition government is expected. There was little excitement over the election among the people.

Little Rock, Ark., October 28.—(AP)—The death sentence of W. H. Howell, 63, convicted of murder in connection with the triple slaying at the Snodgrass infirmary near Van Buren, Ark., several months ago, was affirmed by the supreme court today.

AN OBLIGING BEAUTY DOCTOR

A Beauty Specialist Gives Home-Made Recipe to Darken Gray Hair.

Mrs. M. D. Gillespie, a well-known beauty specialist of Kansas City, recently gave out the following statement regarding gray hair:

"Anyone can prepare a mixture at home that will darken gray hair, and make it glossy. To a half-pint of water add 1 ounce of bay rum, a small box of Barb. Compound and one-fourth ounce of glycerine.

These ingredients can be purchased at any drug store at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. This will make a gray-haired person look twenty years younger. It does not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and will not rub off."—(adv.)

DELAY IN THIRD TRIAL OF LIGGETT SEEN AT NASHVILLE

Nashville, Tenn., October 28.—(AP)—The third trial of Walter Liggett, scheduled to open in criminal court tomorrow, exactly one year from the date of the slaying of Turney Cunningham, hotel manager, probably will be delayed.

The hearing of a defense motion for a change of venue was only about half completed when court recessed this afternoon. Sixty-one men signed affidavits stating their belief that the defendant could not get a fair trial here and only 41 had been questioned when court recessed.

Incendiary Blaze Sweeps Apartment Under Construction

New York, October 28.—(AP)—Fire believed to have been of incendiary origin tonight did $250,000 damage to a five-story apartment house in course of construction in upper Manhattan and endangered the lives of 40 workmen.

It marked the first apparent spread of the activities of an arson ring in Bronx borough where millions in damage has been done to buildings under construction by incendiary fires in the last few months.

Bronx District Attorney John H. McKeen has charged that the fires in that borough are the work of building racketeers who burn out those builders who refuse to submit to extortion. He is making an investigation.

The workmen, who were scattered through the building, escaped without injury in today's fire.

BOMBING IS RENEWED IN STREET CAR STRIKE

Three Blasts Damage Trolley and Homes of Non-Union Men.

New Orleans, La., October 28.—(AP)—Bombing operations intensified the street car strike situation today with three early explosions, one damaging a street car and two partially wrecking residences where police said non-union motormen and conductors lived. Damage of about $3,000 was done but street car passengers and the occupants of the houses rocked escaped unhurt.

The first blast went off under the wheels of a Magazine Street car at Broadway and Benjamin streets as the car rolled over dynamite. The forward platform flooring was splintered on the car and the trackage was torn up for a foot or two.

A number of street cars have been dynamited or burned during the four months' strike, but the dynamiting of the houses was the first offense of that nature on the part of violence perpetrators.

A bomb or other explosive at an early hour was hurled through a basement window of the home of John W. Bourdet, 4804 Camp street. As it landed the missile exploded and blew away a part of the front porch, tore up a section of the basement and rocked the entire house. Bourdet said two motormen and two conductors employed at the Arabella barn were occupying the house in addition to his family. The house was insured against explosives.

Less than an hour after the Bourdet bombing another explosion went off under the gallery of the home of B. Parange at 6057 Magazine street, with extensive damage. The blast tore away the gallery and ripped up the flooring of the front room, wrecking a parlor set and a piano. Parange told police that two motormen from the Arabella barn resided at his home.

No clue was left as to the identity of the bombers.

TENNESSEE WOMAN DIES OF INJURIES RECEIVED IN WRECK

Her home is in Etowah, Tenn. She is survived by her husband and four children. The body was taken to Etowah for funeral today.

FORMER BANK EMPLOYEES ENTER PLEAS OF GUILTY

Tampa, Fla., October 28.—(AP)—Four former employees of the First National bank in Orlando entered pleas of guilty when they were arraigned in federal court here today on charges of converting approximately $4,000 of the bank's funds to their own use a year ago.

They were Harold F. Jones, Earl Plexico, William H. Long and Seth Baker. Sentence will be passed in a few days, Judge A. Akerman said.

A fifth man, Lennie F. Good, was represented in court by his attorney, who said he would not enter a plea until after conferring with his client.

More Showers Likely Today, Forecast Says

"More of the same" is the rather unpleasant weather outlook for Atlanta today, according to the official forecast of C. F. von Herrmann, local meteorologist, who states that showers will continue in evidence and that temperatures will show practically no change.

Monday's range was from 50 up to 66 and no radical departure from these figures is expected today.

CHINA AGAIN DENIES INVASION OF RUSSIA

Moscow, U. S. S. R., October 28.—(AP)—The Tass News Agency today reported that Chinese artillery for two days had been firing continuously on the Russian town of Olchinskaya on the Argun river, which forms the northwest boundary of Manchuria. The population had fled from the town. Firing also was reported in the vicinity of Pogranichnaya.

The agency reported severe casualties were dealt a white guard band of 500 which crossed the frontier near Lake Khanka.

Prisoners taken were alleged to have said that Chinese organized the band for a raid on the railroad which connects Vladivostok with Khabarovsk. The population had fled from the town. Firing also was reported in the vicinity of Pogranichnaya.

The agency reported severe casualties were dealt a white guard band of 500 which crossed the frontier near Lake Khanka.

New York, October 28.—(AP)—A long manifesto of the nationalist government made public here tonight by the Kuomintang News Agency reviewed the dispute with soviet Russia over Manchuria and declared that "if any Chinese gun has been fired it was fired in self-protection."

The manifesto said that without formal declaration of war soviet aggressions were perpetrated while responsible spokesmen on both sides were consulting with a third party (Germany) in an effort to reach an agreement.

Notwithstanding the contrary reports fabricated by soviet propagandists," it continued, "no Chinese soldier, airplane or war vessel has crossed the frontier or invaded soviet territory. It was the soviets that commenced the offensive and hostilities have always occurred within Chinese territory. If any Chinese gun has been fired it was fired in self-protection, if the invader could not be repelled effectively."

BUCHANAN IS NAMED DEKALB COUNTY JUDGE

Appointment of Investigator to Municipal Bench Announced.

W. T. Buchanan, for the last 32 years connected with the city of Edgewood and Atlanta and regarded as one of the best investigators in the south, will quit his post with the city of Atlanta January 1 to accept an appointment as judge of the municipal court of DeKalb county, it was announced Monday by Judge John B. Hutcheson, of the Stone Mountain circuit.

For the last 20 years he has been connected with Atlanta as chief investigator in the office of James L. Mayson, city attorney.

Councilman Robert M. Cobb, Jr., chairman of the contested claims and litigation committee of city council, Monday expressed regret at the retirement of Mr. Buchanan, who he declared has saved the city many thousands of dollars.

"I consider Mr. Buchanan one of the most valuable employees of the city government," Mr. Cobb said. "He has saved the city many times his salary every year since he has been affiliated with the legal department. Atlanta will lose a valuable employee in his retirement from the service of the city."

Mr. Mayson also expressed regret at losing the service of one of the "most valuable attaches of this office." He stated Mr. Buchanan has served Atlanta faithfully in protecting the interests of its taxpayers.

When the town of Edgewood was incorporated, Mr. Buchanan was clerk, marshal and tax collector. In fact had charge of all of the business interests of the city. When the city of Atlanta extended its limits, taking in the town of Edgewood, Mr. Buchanan was transferred to serve for a time as weights and measures inspector, and for the last 20 years has served as investigator for the city law department.

Mr. Buchanan was born in Edgewood, Ga., and was educated in the public schools of that city. He was a member of the Georgia bar and was admitted to the practice of law in 1900. He has been a member of the Georgia bar association since 1900. He has been a member of the Georgia bar association since 1900. He has been a member of the Georgia bar association since 1900.

DAVIS' 'MYSTERY SHIP' IN ATLANTA AIR RACES

Free-for-All Winner at Cleveland Will Be Entered by Travel Air Company.

The Travel Air Mystery Ship, flown by Doug Davis at the Cleveland national air races, Monday was added to the program of the Atlanta air races as a feature event November 9 and 10 at Candler field when William B. Hartsfield, manager of the races, received word from Walter Beech, president of Travel Air, that the little red and black low wing monoplane would be flown to Atlanta by Davis for the local event.

Davis will fly the Mystery Ship in stunting exhibitions and speed trials against time in an attempt to better his world's record for commercial airplanes made at Cleveland. The monoplane in stunting work was declared at the national air races to outperform any other ship on the Cleveland airport and Davis' ability in handling it won for him the Barber and Baldwin trophy for the "most meritorious flying performance" at the races.

The attack on his present world's record for speed, an average time of 135 miles and hour over a triangular course for 50 miles, will see the little ship making up to 240 miles an hour on the straight-aways.

Every pilot on the Cleveland airport wanted to fly the Travel Air racer, Lindbergh being among those who requested a few minutes at the controls. The plane, built along new "colonic" aerodynamic lines, is able, with a 200-horsepower engine, to lap planes with 400 and 500 horsepower motors.

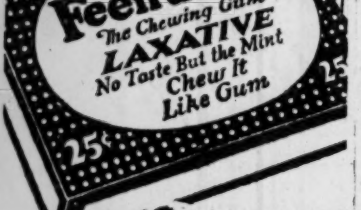

Davis is in New York now and is expected to return this week, probably flying the Mystery Ship to Candler field several days ahead of the date for the races. It will not be entered in any racing or stunting exhibitions here prior to the Atlanta air races.

affid at Montgomery by bad weather, affid at Macon by bad weather.

After a spell of bright, sunny weather, during which period commercial fliers were active and mail fliers on schedule, the grim hand of approaching winter cast its gloomy shadow over Candler field Monday, when clouds and a misty rain kept local planes in their hangars during most of the day. Mail schedules for the afternoon and night were sadly "shot," and the weatherman is heartless enough to promise more rain and just as low a ceiling for today.

Starting out early Monday morning on a trip to Galveston, Texas, Beeler Blevins, at the controls of Asa G. Candler's Waco "105," and with the Atlanta financier and Mrs. Candler as passengers, was forced to come down at Montgomery and return to the home port. With lowering clouds overhead and gloomy weather reports along the route, the Candler decided to brave the elements. But the weather around Montgomery was even worse than Atlanta's, if possible, and the jaunt was called off for the time being. Blevins took off at about 6 o'clock Monday morning and returned to Candler field shortly after noon.

This is the third trip members of the Candler family have made since the plane was purchased from Beeler Blevins, dealer in this territory, about ten days ago. Last Thursday Mr. Candler accompanied the Atlanta pilot to Gainesville, where Mr. Candler's son, Sam, a student at Riverside, was brought back for the week end. Friday Blevins traveled to Nashville, Tenn., by himself, and brought back Mr. Candler's two daughters, students at Ward-Belmont college.

Admiral McCully Speaks As Navy Day Program Event

Unsurpassed natural advantages offered the south for the development of aviation should result in greatly increased interest here in air travel of all kinds, in the opinion of Rear Admiral Newton A. McCully, commander of the Sixth Naval District, Charleston, S. C., Atlanta's honor guest for the annual Navy Day celebration commemorating the birthday of Theodore Roosevelt.

Admiral McCully was the principal speaker at the luncheon meeting of the Atlanta chapter of the National Aeronautics Association at the Athletic Club Monday afternoon, one of the features of the day's program.

He declared that the "natural" route across the Atlantic was to the south and pointed out that this would make the paths of planes and ships pass the southern coast. More level ground, better year-round weather and absence of fogs were cited among the advantages offered aviation in this section.

A squadron of planes from Pensacola visited the city Monday as part of the celebration and took part in formation flying over the city Monday afternoon. Pilots these planes also were present at the luncheon, the group including Lieutenant William V. Davis, U. S. N., who was navigator for Art Gossel, pilot of the winning plane in the Dole trophy flight to Hawaii; Henderson Hallman, governor for Georgia of the N. A. A.; Philip Alston, president of the Chamber of Commerce; B. S. Barker, executive vice president of the Chamber of Commerce, and representatives from the various naval organizations in the city also were present. Jesse Draper, president of the local N. A. A. chapter, presided at the meeting.

Short talks by Congressman-Elect Robert C. W. Ransome, Lieutenant Stanley Jones, in charge of naval re-

SOULE PRAISES PRICE ACTION OF FARM BOARD

Establishment of 16 Cents Minimum Cotton Price Mandate Commended.

Athens, Ga., October 28.—(P)—Dr. Andrew M. Soule, president of the State College of Agriculture, said today that the virtual "pegging" of the minimum price of cotton at 16 cents by the federal farm board was "one of the most significant movements ever made on behalf of the American farmer."

Dr. Soule issued a statement commenting on the board's recent announcement that $100,000,000 would be placed at the service of cotton growers of the south, and on the forthcoming visit of Carl Williams, cotton states representative on the board, to Georgia November 5 for addresses in Athens and Macon.

"The farm board's announcement," Dr. Soule said, "must have brought happiness into many a home and helped to dispel the gloom that was gathering by reason of the depressed condition of the cotton market."

He added that "efforts to exploit this great new resource in numerous ways are observable on every hand and it is to be hoped that farmers will not be misled by any of these efforts."

Federal Judge Warns Jurors To Protect Law

Savannah, Ga., October 28.—(P)—Judge William H. Barrett opened the adjourned August term of the United States district court here today with a charge to the grand jury, an assignment of civil cases, and entertaining several pleas of guilty in prohibition cases, the latter being minor offenses.

Judge Barrett emphasized to the federal grand jury the need for protection of the government. He said that federal grand jurors were selected for the high order of their intelligence and integrity, but even the smartest men and the most diligent could not foresee the inroads that would be made against constituted government.

Likening their duties to that of a levee against a flood, taking his home city of Augusta as an analogy, he said that while the levee had been built strong enough to protect Augusta, lack of diligence in caring for the levee had weakened it in places and only the utmost sacrifice and hard work on the part of the citizens prevented greater disaster to the city. He cautioned the grand jurors to reach their actions without fear or favor to men or circumstances.

Mrs. Hal Hentz has selected Friday, November 15, for the elaborate buffet luncheon at which she will entertain in honor of her debutante niece, Miss Frances Connally Spalding, at the Piedmont Driving Club, the honor guest being a namesake of the hostess, who was formerly Miss Frances Connally. Miss Spalding will make her debut at a brilliant reception at The Homestead, Tuesday, November 5, the occasion marking the 25th anniversary of her mother's, Mrs. John S. Spalding, debut party, which was a brilliant event of November 5, 1896, taking place also at The Homestead, when the debutante in the nineties was formally introduced to society by her mother, the late Mrs. E. L. Connally. 1896 Debut Party. The following excerpt is reprinted from The Constitution's file of November 6, 1896, the article covering in detail the debut reception of the former Miss Mary Brown Connally, now Mrs. John S. Spalding:

Yesterday afternoon and evening Dr. and Mrs. E. L. Connally entertained their many friends by an elegant reception at which they formally presented in society their charming daughter, Miss Mary Brown Connally. Their home is most appropriate for large entertainments, the spacious old-fashioned hallway and reception rooms can be seen in one, and the rear of the house was converted into a charming ballroom, made attractive with palms and banana trees and other tropical plants with which Mrs. Connally's conservatory is filled.

"The main parlor, in which the guests were received, had its decorations entirely of pink roses peeping from banks of ferns on the cabinets and various stands about the room. The drawing and sitting rooms had artistic decorations of various colored chrysanthemums, and a punch was served from under a bow of palms in the back room. A delicious luncheon was served from small tables in the

Mrs. Robert L. Cooney Re-elected President of Peachtree Garden Club

Mrs. Robert L. Cooney was re-elected president of Peachtree Garden Club at the annual election of officers, held yesterday at the home of Mrs. Charles L. Hopkins, on Ponce de Leon avenue, in Druid Hills. The corps of officers elected to serve with Mrs. Cooney include Mrs. William H. Kiser, first vice president; Mrs. Prince Webster, second vice president; Mrs. Albert E. Thornton, treasurer; Mrs. C. C. Case, recording secretary; and Mrs. James D. Robinson, corresponding secretary. Mrs. Samuel M. Inman was chairman of the nominating committee, and serving with her were Mesdames William P. Hill and Hunter Perry.

Election is Pleasing.

The election of Mrs. Cooney to her third term of office was, indeed, pleasing to the membership, as her two former administrations have been fraught with constructive and brilliant achievements. She is an ardent lover and grower of flowers, and put into motion the organization of the Garden Club of Georgia, one of the most far-reaching and concerted movements in the state, and is honorary president of the organization. Mrs. Cooney keeps in touch with the Garden Club of America by attending the national meetings and always places before the membership of horticultural societies at which she is repeatedly invited to speak, the beauties of Georgia gardens, and also those of southern gardens. Her interest has extended into the realm of beautifying state highways, and at the invitation of Mrs. Cooney, the Garden Club of America was invited to come to Atlanta two years hence to be guests of the Peachtree Garden Club, the only organization in the state claiming membership in the national organization. The Peachtree Garden Club carries under Mrs. Cooney's direction a program of conservation of wild flowers and sponsors plant sales. A pergola was erected at the home for Incubators by the club in memory of the late Mrs. W. S. Witham, and the members take care of the gardens surrounding this charitable institution. Annual flower shows, arranged by members of the club, always attract the attention of flower lovers, there being no admission fee charged to view these shows, which always prove instructive and informative to other gardeners. The club was organized several years ago for the purpose of promoting interest in horticulture in Atlanta, its aim being to increase the love of the beautiful and admits of an exchange of ideas among its members.

How a Family Doctor made Millions of Friends

FIFTEEN years after his graduation, Dr. Caldwell became one of the best-known members of his profession. A single prescription made him famous. And for forty years it has continued to make friends.

As fast as people could tell others about the marvelous way this prescription corrects constipation and relieves other troubles caused by sluggish bowels, demand for it spread until Dr. Caldwell was forced to have it filled in quantities; bottled and distributed through drug stores.

Today, Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, as it is called, is the world's most popular laxative. Millions of people would never think of using anything else when they're headachy, bilious, feverish, or weak; when breath is bad, tongue is coated or they are suffering from nausea, from gas, or lack of appetite, etc.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin as you buy it from your drug store is made in accordance with the original formula from only herbs and other pure ingredients. It is pleasant tasting; its action is thorough in the most obstinate cases; gently effective for women and children. Above all, it represents a doctor's choice of what is safe for the bowels.

BURGESS CHILDREN'S STORIES

SAMMY JAY LOSES A FEW FEATHERS.
By Thornton W. Burgess.

Revenge will stoop to any deed; For mercy it is vain to plead.
—Old Mother Nature.

A hunter who had no business there was tramping through the Green Forest. He knew that he had no business there. He had seen and read the signs warning hunters to keep off that land—signs that Farmer

In spite of all the hunter could do, Happy managed to keep the tree between them.

Brown had had placed. But he knew that Farmer Brown and Farmer Brown's boy were away that day, so he had taken the chance to go over in the Green Forest, hoping to shoot Mr. and Mrs. Grouse or some of their family.

Flip the Terrier had saved Mr. and Mrs. Grouse and then Sammy Jay had followed the hunter and had warned Flip the Terrier. Happy Jack had seen the hunter. Now the hunter was angry, very angry. He muttered to himself as he tramped along.

And all the time, following silently, Sammy Jay kept him in sight. Sammy Jay flew from tree to tree. He was never far behind that hunter. His sharp eyes watched the ground about that hunter. Sammy intended to warn any one whom he might see. He didn't intend that that hunter should shoot any one in the Green Forest if he, Sammy, could help it.

The hunter was still muttering when he caught a glimpse of Happy Jack Squirrel. Happy Jack had not seen the hunter, nor had he seen the hunter's dog. He was up in a tree, busily opening a nut. It was the dropping of a piece of nutshell that had drawn the attention of the hunter. At first the hunter didn't see Happy Jack, but he knew just where Happy was sitting. He began to steal forward very carefully, holding his gun in readiness. Sammy Jay noted this and immediately began to look for the reason. His sharp eyes discovered Happy Jack almost at once. Happy Jack saw the hunter and he began to screech at the top of his lungs: "Thief, thief, thief!"

Happy Jack dropped the nut he was eating and hastily looked about. Almost at once he saw the hunter. He whisked around the opposite side of the tree, so as to keep the trunk of the tree between him and the hunter. Happy Jack is very smart at his game. In spite of all the hunter could do, Happy managed to keep the tree-trunk between them. Then he saw a chance to leap to another tree and disappear in a hole.

The hunter was angrier than ever. He had lost a chance to get either Mr. or Mrs. Grouse because of Flip; he had lost a chance to get Flip because of Sammy Jay, and again because of Sammy Jay he had lost a chance to get Happy Jack Squirrel. So the hunter was very much out of sorts, indeed. He sat down on a log to wait and watch. His gun was in his hand and he picked it up quickly. By and by he caught a glimpse of blue in the top of a tree. It was what he was waiting for. He pointed his gun at Sammy Jay and fired. Bang went the gun! A few blue feathers came fluttering down. But Sammy Jay himself flew away as he flew he screeched louder than ever. Moreover, he didn't fly far. He had lost a few feathers, but fortunately he wasn't hurt, and when he recovered from the fright he had received he once more began to follow the hunter. He was more determined than ever that this hunter should kill none of the little people of the Green Forest if he could help it.

FIVE DOOMED WOMEN AWAIT LURKING DEATH

New York, October 28.—(United News.)—Death is creeping slowly but surely upon the five women who were poisoned last year in the plant of the United States Radium Corporation at Orange, N. J., when they used their lips to point the brushes with which they were painting luminous watch dials.

Mrs. Quinta McDonald, of Orange, is in Memorial hospital here and can only live a few days, doctors say. Mrs. McDonald's sister, Mrs. Albina Larice, is growing worse every day, according to her husband, while Miss Katherine Schaub, of Newark, is unable to walk. One leg is shorter than the other.

Mrs. Edna Hussman, of Hillside, N. J., is losing her teeth and one leg is growing shorter than the other. The poison has spread to the ears in the case of Miss Grace Fryer, of Orange, and she has had several operations on her jaw.

All five women settled with the radium corporation for $10,000 cash, $800 annual pensions and medical expenses.

YOUTH QUARRELS WITH HIS GIRL THEN SUICIDES

Richmond, Va., October 28.—(AP)—John M. Garrett, 22, late yesterday afternoon quarreled with a young woman friend, and last night hanged himself in his room, saying "What I am going to do, doesn't matter," then ran to his room and shot himself.

On his way home young Garrett, a popular athlete, told a friend "The morning papers will carry a story about me." Meanwhile his mother had been warned by an unidentified person that her son was despondent, and might "try to do something desperate."

Garrett brushed by his sister and a friend in the door of the Garrett home, rushed to his mother, kissed her and said "Goodbye." She asked him what he intended to do. He replied "I don't care."

When the door was fired, the young man visiting Garrett's sister rushed to the room to find him wrapped in a dressing gown, dying.

The coroner pronounced the case "suicide."

RELATIVES SHARE NOT IN MRS. LYDIG'S WILL

New York, October 28.—(AP)—The entire estate of Mrs. Rita H. De A. De Costa Lydig, who died October 19, is left to educational, religious and charitable institutions. In her will, filed today, no mention is made of her son, W. E. D. Stokes, Jr., or of any of her four sisters or her husband.

In 1927, Mrs. Lydig filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy, listing liabilities of $93,055.14 and assets of clothing, furniture, etc., not evaluated. These latter were sold at public auction, bringing over $50,000 and in the summer of 1927 she settled for 40 cents on the dollar and was discharged from bankruptcy.

During the bankruptcy hearing it was brought out that she was receiving, regularly, large sums of money, totaling as much as $10,000 a year, but the source was never divulged. Creditors claimed at the time that it was from a "hidden" trust fund but this was denied by her counsel, and apparently proven privately to the satisfaction of the referee.

The estate is left in the care of Mrs. Lydig's executor and trustee, James A. Javits, of New York, who is empowered by the will to distribute it on such portions as he may deem advisable to such educational, religious and educational institutions as may be chosen by him. The will was dated June 17, last.

Mrs. Lydig's brother is Richard M. De Costa, of New York. Her sisters are Mrs. A. R. Sargent, of Harvard, Mass.; Mrs. Abraham Poole and Mrs. Henry Breckinridge, of New York, and Mrs. Frederick Shaw, of Dublin, Ireland.

The valuation of the estate was given as "over $10,000."

Robert the Bruce's Heart Is Missing From Edinburgh

London, October 28.—(AP)—The heart of Robert the Bruce, the great Scottish chieftain, is missing. Eight years ago the casket believed to contain Bruce's heart was taken from excavations at Melrose abbey and given over for safekeeping to the public works department at Edinburgh. In some way it now has been mislaid or purloined.

It was intended eventually to comply with the chieftain's dying request that it be conveyed to the Holy Land. Robert the Bruce died just 600 years ago at Cardross, after winning Scottish independence from England in the battle of Bannockburn on June 24, 1314, and confirming his own right to the title of Scottish king.

He was unable personally to fulfill a vow to visit the holy sepulcher and requested his faithful follower, Sir James Douglas, to carry his heart there.

Sir James perished on the way to battle against the Moors in Spain. Sir William Keith received the heart of Bruce and found it its resting place at Melrose.

WHEN CHILDREN ARE HEALTHY

Help boys and girls enjoy nourishing foods by flavoring such foods with sugar

SUGAR adds flavor, zest and enjoyment to so many foods that it is certainly worth while to cultivate its use especially when children's meals are concerned. Thousands of mothers have found that the judicious use of sugar will help growing boys and girls enjoy the foods they need to eat.

If spinach, carrots, peas, string beans, beets and tomatoes become unpopular, try cooking them with a little sugar. Their flavor is emphasized by a dash of sugar. Likewise, fresh vegetable salads have more appeal if the dressing is flavored with sugar.

If children are not taking milk as they should, try more milk desserts at the end of dinner and supper. There are so many to choose from—rice pudding, blanc-mange, cream tapioca, chocolate soufflé and ice cream.

If the family is not eating fruits and cereals as it should, try a little sugar with these foods. Sugar brings out fruit flavors and improves the taste of cereals.

Welcome sugar in the diet for flavor and energy. Sugar is the quickest energy known. The normal craving for sugar may be the craving for energy. Scientists advise us that on days of unusual physical activity we should increase the amount of sugar in our diet. The Sugar Institute.

To End a Cough In a Hurry, Mix This at Home

To end a stubborn cough quickly, it is important to soothe and heal the inflamed membranes, get rid of the germs and also to aid the system upwardly to help throw off the trouble.

For these purposes, here is a home-made medicine, far better than anything you could buy at 3 times the cost. From any drugstore, get 2½ ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a pint bottle, and add plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey to fill up the pint. This takes but a moment, and makes a remedy so effective that you will never do without, once you have used it. Keeps perfectly, and children like it.

This simple remedy does three necessary things. First, it soothes the inflamed membranes. Second, it soothes away the inflammation. Third, it is absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly on the bronchial tubes. This explains why it brings such quick relief, even in the obstinate bronchial coughs which follow cold epidemics.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form, and known as one of the greatest healing agents for severe coughs, chest colds and bronchial troubles.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

Look years younger

Sallow, Dingy Skin made Lovely—Coarse Pores become Fine—It corrects oily skin, heals eruptions and dissolves blackheads.

The newest discovery in beauty culture is that creamed magnesia is much better for the complexion than any soap or cleansing cream. It softens the skin instantly, in the same easy way that milk of magnesia purifies the stomach. This is because skin impurities are acid. Doctors treat acid inside the body with milk of magnesia. And now, getting amazing results in banishing complexion faults with creamed magnesia. All you do is moisten your skin with its massage and rinse with water. It's as simple as washing your face.

It reduces enlarged pores to the finest, smoothest texture almost as if by magic. Being an astringent, it drives away the tell-tale signs of age. You will marvel at the effect of your first five-minute facial massage. It rejuvenates the skin so quickly that any woman can look lovely to-night, years younger. It's marvelous how magnesia dissolves blackheads, clears eruptions and corrects oily skin.

And because it is so mild, mothers use it instead of soap to bathe infants. It certainly is a blessing as a face wash for fine, sensitive skin.

That soap so easily irritates and causes acne. Being gentle, it cannot irritate the face or clog the pores.

It removes make-up and extraneous impurities deeper in the pores better than soap could. It changes dull, yellow skin to radiant clearness and takes out freckles better than a basket of lemons.

CREMED MAGNESIA clears the skin in the same easy way that milk of magnesia purifies the stomach.

Test it on those clogged nose pores that stand out so boldly. It whitens your skin. It will also keep your hands soft and white. Until recently, creamed magnesia was used only by New York doctors, wives, and nurses. But now the large drugstore everywhere where you find it hard to keep a touch on hand to supply the demand. To get a genuine creamed magnesia, ask for Denton's Facial Magnesia. Remember, five minutes is all you need. Get your magnesia today and look lovely to-night. It costs almost nothing to try. It's guaranteed!

GUARANTEE

It is impossible for Denton's Facial Magnesia not to improve your complexion. But, should it fail to delight you, even after the very first application, your dealer is requested to refund your money at once without question.

IT MAY be replaced artificially. But artificial teeth are never quite the same as natural teeth. And if a lost tooth isn't replaced, the roughest cheek may pay with a marbling line, a telltale hollow. Safeguard your priceless teeth and gums—especially at The Danger Line.

Your gums thin out to a delicate margin where they join the teeth. Here is The Danger Line. Here is a row of tiny crevices many of which, especially those between the teeth, your tooth-brush cannot reach. So food particles collect, ferment, generate acids which attack the teeth and gums. Squibb's Dental Cream is prepared particularly to guard The Danger Line. It contains 50% Squibb's Milk of Magnesia. Each time you use it, particles of Milk of Magnesia are carried into the crevices and render acids harmless. Squibb's Dental Cream cleans safely and thoroughly. Surely you need this vital protection. SUPREME COURT REFUSES REVIEW IN SEDITION CASES

Washington, October 28.—(AP)—The supreme court today refused to review the convictions of Peter Muselin, Tom Zima and Milan Resetar, on charges of violating the Espionage laws, sedition act at Woodlawn, Beaver county, in 1926.

The men received sentences of five years imprisonment and fine of $500 each. The court announced they had failed to present a controversy within its jurisdiction.

The men were charged with being members and organizers of the workers or communist party of America, working for the overthrow of the government by use of force. The state asserted that they were drilling recruits, had collected dynamite, and had distributed communist literature.

They challenged the validity of the law under which they were convicted. The state courts took the view that the law did not prohibit the advocacy of a change in the form of government by constitutional means, and that it did not abridge the freedom of speech.

Baby ills and ailments seem twice as serious at night. A sudden cry may mean colic. Or a sudden attack of diarrhea—a condition it is always important to check quickly. How would you meet this emergency—tonight? Have you a bottle of Castoria ready? There is nothing that can take the place of this harmless but effective remedy for children; nothing that acts quite the same, or has quite the same comforting effect on them.

For the protection of your wean—for your own peace of mind—keep this old, reliable preparation always on hand. But don't keep it just for emergencies; let it be an everyday aid. Its gentle influence will ease and soothe the infant who cannot sleep. Its mild regulation will help an older child whose tongue is coated because of sluggish bowels. All druggists have Castoria; the genuine bears Chas. H. Fletcher's signature on the wrapper.

The white columns were entwined with smilax, and decorated with wall baskets holding red-rose-colored flowers, while garlands of smilax outlined the windows in the ballroom. An orchestra played musical selections, while bouquets of flowers, gifts of admiring friends, attested the popularity of the deb, and added a note of sentiment to their debut party.

SPILLER "LAYS LOW" ON DOBBS DEAL

NEW MANAGER STORY MEETS WITH DENIAL

Chattanooga Reports Negotiations on Between Crackers and Barons' Skipper.

Another one of those Cracker baseball deals rumbled up on the horizon last night with Johnny Dobbs dimly seen as the manager of the 1930 Atlanta club.

R. J. Spiller, experienced in the Washington deal which collapsed with a dull, sickening thud last summer, refused to make any statement except to deny that any deal was completed. The Cracker president said he was going to initiate "Burr Rabbit" and "lay low" on all future deals.

Indications were that Dobbs was working on a deal with the Cracker owner and that it would be completed.

Spiller refused to deny or affirm the reported deal. He would not deny, however, that some deal was in prospect.

At Chattanooga it was reported that Dobbs and four other men had made a proposition to buy the club and that the deal had not gone through.

PARTIAL PURCHASE.
A partial purchase by Dobbs, who will assume the managerial post in the event it is completed, is said to be the proposition under consideration.

The Constitution learned from an unimpeachable source that Dobbs and Spiller were in conference about some business matter. The Cracker owner took the attitude that the affair was his own personal business and that the public was not concerned at present.

Spiller already has Wilbur Good, who was manager of the Crackers during the past season, under contract to manage the 1930 Atlanta baseball club. Good is at present at his home in Florida. Dobbs has not signed with Birmingham.

VICTORIOUS DOBBS.
Dobbs is not adverse to changing positions on the heels of success. He left Memphis for Birmingham after winning a pennant. He won two straight flags for Birmingham, adding the Dixie series with the Texas league winners in his string this past season.

Dobbs has been managing ball clubs for 25 years and has finished out of the first division but five times in that long span. He began his success with Chattanooga in 1909 when that club was in the Sally league and brought it through one season in the Southern league.

Dobbs has managed at Chattanooga, Montgomery, Nashville, Memphis and Birmingham. He likes to keep on the move, staying at one place only a few years.

Consistent Winner.
He has been one of the most consistently successful men in the minor leagues. His baseball teams are always smart and well-balanced. His victory last year was the most exceptional feat of his long managerial career.

His club was wrecked by the loss of Judge Landis, early in the spring training period. That loss followed those resulting from sales and drafts after the 1928 season.

Despite these losses Dobbs managed to replace the men and win the pennant and the Dixie series. It was the second time a Southern league club had won such a victory over the Texas league rivals.

Spiller intimated that there might be some baseball news by the end of the week but refused to say whether or not Dobbs was concerned. Atlanta fans would welcome him should he be placed in charge of the club.

Tigers Encounter Tennessee Next

Auburn, Ala., October 28.—The courageous Auburn Tigers will again face one of the strongest teams in the Southern conference Saturday when they journey to Knoxville and encounter Bob Neyland's undefeated University of Tennessee eleven.

The Vols have not been defeated in three seasons and have not failed to be declared the winner on Shields-Watkins field since 1924. Auburn will meet the No. 1 team in the South in a game which will make it that much harder for the Boblermen to win, since the Neyland eleven is almost unvanquishable on its home lot.

Only a slight workout was given the Plainsmen this afternoon, as rain fell during the workout and Coach Bohler decided not to work against the weather any longer and sent his proteges to the showers.

Ben Newton and Willie Granger are the only members of Trainer Hutzel's casualty list who will be kept out of the rough work this week. Granger has a pulled muscle and Newton is still suffering with a dislocated shoulder obtained in the Florida game.

Other members of the team are in good shape and will be in good physical shape for the tilt when the Vols, Auburn and Georgia will meet for the second time during the week Saturday afternoon when the Red and Black barriers come to the Plains and race Coach Wilbur Hutzel's Orange and Blue barriers over a five-mile course.

Team Excused.
Philadelphia, October 28.—(AP)—Most of Temple's team was excused from practice today on account of good play against Washington and Jefferson. Others indulged in slight drill, passing and punting. Head Coach Heinie Miller tried out new formations to use against Bucknell Saturday.

Charlie Bachman, the old Notre Dame guard, who teaches football at the University of Florida, uttered some potent truths about the game in a chat Saturday before his boys went out to play Georgia.

"It always has been difficult for a team that plays a representative schedule to come through undefeated," he said, "and nowadays when good football teams are plentiful the task is even more difficult."

"Notre Dame has a great team, probably one of the best Rockne ever developed. Yet it is a 2 to 1 shot they will lose one and possibly two games before the season is over."

"The difference between the loss of the ball on downs on the 15-yard line and a forward pass for touchdown sometimes is the fraction of an inch. And no team can reach its best performance Saturday after Saturday."

VALUE OF TRADITION.

In commenting on the Tech-Florida game he attributed part of Tech victory to tradition and experience.

"Tech's players had a big edge on our boys in a matter of background," he went on. "Many of them had played in the Rose Bowl and all of them had participated in big time football before big crowds. Our boys were new to major league football and they went into that game excited to death."

"I recall how the first Notre Dame team looked that played in the Yale Bowl. I was a member of that team. We had great backs and a pretty strong line and a system of play that should have bewildered Yale."

"Yet we were country boys, new to big time football and awed by Yale's football tradition. We started off fumbling and finished fumbling. Yale won 28 to 0 and by all the laws of form we should have won by that same score. Until you have coached a football team you have no idea what big league experience means."

FORECAST WAS ACCURATE.

Coach Bachman before the game said he could not tell whether his boys were going to win the game with Georgia or not, but he believed they would play better than they had a week ago. And—so they did, by several furlongs.

NOMINATING RAINEY CAWTHON.

Until this observer has seen Tony Holm of Alabama in action, he is content to have Rainey Cawthon play fullback on his mind—eleven.

Cawthon showed power and speed in the Tech game even when his line was caving in and his interference was being split. Against Georgia he never missed an opening and now and then made his own holes.

Once through the line he twisted and dodged like a halfback. His defensive play is well nigh flawless. His spirit is fine and he is as durable as a yearling bull.

THE POT OF GOLD.

Bernie Bierman, Tulane's head football coach, has worked silently and uncompromisingly for years to produce a winning team at Tulane and under handicaps not appreciated in his home town.

The boys who come to Tulane always have run toward the halfback type. Always in years past there has been a scarcity of burly linemen who can give and take.

This year Coach Bierman ably assisted by Ted Cox of Minnesota finally succeeded in building a great rush line. That was all needed to give the Greenies a lever to crash the gate.

Incidentally, I am waiting for Coach Bierman to write me a letter and thank me for giving him a hot tip late in September. I told him he was going to beat Georgia Tech. He just laughed then.

There is no more modest young man in the coaching business down our way than Bierman and he deserves all the nice things New Orleans newspapers should be saying about him now.

THE BREAKS.

Warner Mizell caught a forward pass on fourth down and his toe touched the sandbag marking the Tulane goal line... Tulane's ball on her own two-inch line, not a touchdown.

"Stumpy" Thomason ran from scrimmage into the clear, the referee blew his whistle to signal "out of bounds." Stumpy stopped and was caught, yet Stumpy had not come within a foot of the sideline officials agreed after the game... Tech's ball somewhere, first down, but no touchdown.

These rightly are called "breaks" and, boy, how the breaks change the complexion of the game.

Yet all I could learn at Tech Flats yesterday morning from Coach Alexander was: "They pulverized our line in the first half. Banker is a marvelous halfback, probably the best one we have met or will meet this year."

DON'T WORRY, BLAKE.

"Vandy Lone Remaining Hope to Stop March of Vols," should a headline yesterday, in Brother Blake's paper. Now, Morgan, I told you, I told you and am telling you again that Kentucky will beat Tennessee Thanksgiving Day, regardless, so forget it.

You may think Tennessee picked out a pretty soft schedule but my boys at Kentucky were just as careful.

Bohler Reported Out As Coach at Auburn

Montgomery, Ala., October 28.—(AP)—The Montgomery Advertiser tomorrow will say that "Auburn will have a new coach next season, and possibly for the remainder of this season."

Alabama Polytechnic Institute at Auburn has lost all its important football games during recent years.

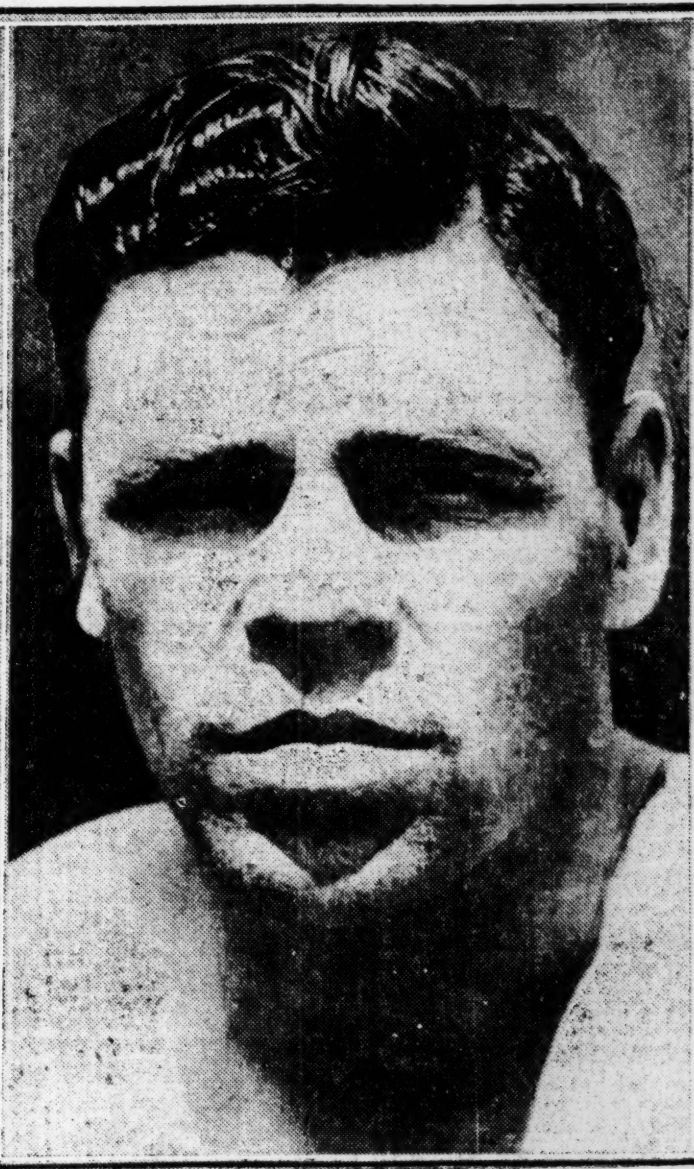

Coach George Bohler, under a three-year contract, has one more year ahead at the end of this season. His salary will be paid through next year, The Advertiser states.

Middleweights Meet for Title Tonight

Mickey Walker, world's middleweight ring champion, and Ace Hudkins, ambitious challenger, will meet tonight at Los Angeles, Cal., in a championship fight. Hudkins, the Nebraska Wildcat, is shown on the left, while the champion is pictured in the panel at the right. Both the fighters are confident of a victory.

RUSSELL PLAYS AGGIES TODAY

Other Prep Elevens Are Working Hard for Games This Week-End.

Russell High school, with one defeat and four straight victories to its credit, will play the Douglassville Aggies at 2:45 o'clock this afternoon at East Point. It will be the second game of the year between the two teams, Russell winning the first, 7-0-0, in Douglassville three weeks ago.

Coach R. L. Bowen's East Point lads started the season off by holding Marietta to a 7-0 score and then stepped out and won four consecutive victories, Fulton, Douglassville, Commercial High and Marietta being the victims.

The East Point players like their football and every effort is being made to schedule another game for Friday afternoon with some strong prep team near Atlanta. Russell High is not taking the Douglassville game lightly, in face of its attempt to arrange another game this week, but Coach Bowen believes that more games with hard teams improve his eleven.

While Russell is playing at East Point, Boys' High, Tech High, Decatur, Commercial and Fulton will be hard at work preparing for games during the week-end.

Boys' High will feature the local games with Knoxville, Friday afternoon at Spiller's and Decatur will be in a home-coming day ceremony with Athens, High, conqueror of Savannah High two weeks ago.

Tech High will work harder this week than ever before in preparation for its Saturday game at Savannah against Savannah High. The Smithies have not been scored on this season and Coach Tolbert stated Saturday that his team has been taking it easy since its overwhelming victories over Erie and Fulton High in its last two games. Nothing but hard work is in store for Tech High this week.

Kentucky, Centre Facing Break

Lexington, Ky., October 28.—(AP)—The University of Kentucky athletic council tomorrow is expected to take action to decide whether Saturday's game between Kentucky and Centre shall be the last between the two institutions. A decision on next year's schedule was to be made today, but action was postponed until tomorrow afternoon.

A difference in the rules of the athletic associations to which the two schools belong governing the use of players that have graduated from junior colleges has led to the threat to further games carrying on the traditional athletic rivalry.

Latin Temperaments All Funny That Way

That Ain't Climax You See in the New Orleans Grid Jaw's Cheeks—It's Boo!

By Ralph McGill.

After this past week, when I see a football customer grab his back and make a vulgar noise I will know it is just his Latin temperament cropping out.

After Saturday, when I listen to sleek young men shout anathemas at visiting football coaches and players I will smile and say, "Pleasant fellows, these Latins."

Latin blood flows hot in the pages of romantic novels. Creole maidens with flashing eyes are supposed to make the blood pressure mount. The Latins have long been credited with peculiar temperament.

Whatever it is, the New Orleans football audience nullified to some extent the fitness of Tulane's victory over Georgia Tech in New Orleans last Saturday.

PLAYERS FINE.
Tulane's players were fine sportsmen, playing the game cleanly and well. They won a fine and complete victory. Tulane's press box was well handled, the courteous Horace Renegar making things comfortable. The astute Mr. Bill Keefe, of the esteemed Times-Picayune, the erudite Mr. Fred Digby, of the Item, and the scholarly Mr. Harry Martinez, of the States, made things very nice indeed.

Of course now and then some of the Latins in the stands did shout up some uncomplimentary things to the young men visiting in the press box, but then the young men of the press have been called that before.

Atlanta football fans, who made the pilgrimage to New Orleans, however, did not fare so well. In fact, they will be loath to make another similar journey in the future.

NO INFLUENCE.
It is very apparent that the purity of the Tulane football team, certified to by the Carnegie Foundation, has not yet had an influence on the New Orleans audiences.

Visitors from Atlanta found themselves the objects of rather uncouth and raucous remarks from the excited audience which Continued on Fourth Sport Page.

Montgomery Club Official Resigns

Montgomery, Ala., October 28.—(AP)—Resignation of Harry Thompson as traveling secretary and business manager of the Montgomery Lions has automatically severed his connection with the board of directors of the Southeastern league, President Cliff Green announced here today.

Mr. Green said that Thompson's successor on the board probably will be elected at the next meeting of the body, the date to be fixed later. Z. C. Lewis, president of the Montgomery club, announced that a new secretary and business manager probably will not be named until after the first of the year.

The decision of the Lions' directors to "cut expenses" was given by Thompson as the reason for his resignation. He has been business manager for three years.

HUDKINS SET FOR WALKER

Two Boys Are Confident of Victory in Title Bout.

By Ronald W. Wagoner.

Los Angeles, October 28.—(United News.)—Battled three times in his effort to wear a champion's crown, Ace Hudkins will take his fourth shot at a title tomorrow night at Wrigley field when he attempts to overthrow Mickey Walker, the New Jersey king of all middleweights.

Just what will happen when the Nebraska wildcat and the toy bulldog from the eastern seaboard meet in the ball park for their 10-round encounter was a matter for conjecture tonight.

The fans of southern California, and handbills from other sections of the country, appeared to be undecided. Betting odds were mostly even, but here and there a wager popped up in which Walker was 10 to 9 or 11 to 10 favorite.

Paper advantage appeared to rest with the champion in every respect except that of age. Hudkins is only 24 years old, while Mickey admits 28. The boxers were weighed unofficially today—Hudkins at a Los Angeles gymnasium and Mickey at his Soper's ranch headquarters in the Opita desert. The challenger scaled 156 3/4 and Walker, according to Teddy Hayes, his trainer, was at 159 pounds.

Hayes' announcement caused considerable surprise and if Hayes is correct it will mean that Walker can avoid the dreaded "baking out" which it was believed would be necessary before he came under the 160-pound limit.

"I was just a built-up welterweight when I fought Walker in Chicago more than a year ago," Ace said after a short workout with the pullers. "This time it will be different, although I still believe I should have copied the decision at Chicago."

BETTER TACKLES.
Georgia's tackles, however, will be stouter than Tech's. The line should play a more vigorous and determined fashion.

Georgia will be washed completely out of the Conference contest. For at him in the line, the Tulane backfield can move with all the speed of swallow winging homeward on an autumn afternoon. And the Way has a nice line, especially a Mr. Daisymple at end, and a Mr. Canse at tackle. And several of the others are more than passing fair at laying in the line.

It begins to appear, however, that escheteons are going to be on the bargain counter this fall. For it does seem that every one of them is going to have that figurative blot which theoretically cheapens the value of even our best escheteons.

HAVE CHANCE.
If the Georgians bounce back from Jacksonville with sufficient punch they may win. For the Tulane backs are "India rubber jits on a spree" for a half. And after that they begin to wilt. A football team that can hang on and beat them back for a half can light in and win a football game in the second half.

Harry Mehre's team learned a lot in losing to Florida. No doubt their mental attitude is improved. They are quite likely to make it a mighty battle. And if they can hold them back that first half and still have some punch left they will wreck another one of those self-issued invitations to the Rose Bowl.

Columbus is planning on making the game one of those auspicious affairs. The Chamber of Commerce is behind it as are all the citizenry as a whole. The game is to be played in the American Legion stadium and all Columbus and most of Atlanta and Athens will be there.

SQUAD LACKING IN EXPERIENCE, COACH STATES

Maree and Thomason To Start Saturday With Rest of Varsity.

By Ralph McGill.

It will be "bundle and go" again for Atlanta football fans this week.

For the faithful will attend at Columbus, Ga., where Tulane and Georgia meet Friday afternoon.

And they will trek right back to Atlanta where the Jackets and the Irish clash on Saturday afternoon at the Flats.

Georgia Tech's football team, with one of the greatest come-backs in the annals of gridiron history falling short at New Orleans Saturday, will start the Notre Dame game with the varsity lineup intact.

STUMPY-MAREE.
Stumpy Thomason and Vance Maree, instead of being further injured by participation in the Tulane game while still in precarious physical condition due to injuries, were helped considerably. They will start Saturday.

Coach W. A. Alexander, the Man at the Flats, will shoot his first team at the Irish. There will be no holding back for the tough days in November.

"We suffered from lack of experience at Tulane," he said yesterday. "Lack of experience was most apparent in the line. They will get another opportunity to learn what it is all about in the Notre Dame game. The varsity will start as a unit."

IRISH STARS.
Atlanta football fans will be given an opportunity to witness a revelation in football improvements this week. Many of the players now starting for Rockne are the ones who were stopped by the Jackets of 1928 when the Jackets won, 12 to 0, on Grant field. They were no bargains last fall. This year they are being booed for All-American berths.

The Jackets will go to work on Notre Dame plays this week. On Saturday they will "shoot the works." It is their last chance at experience before resuming the conference schedule with Vanderbilt on November 9 at Nashville.

The Georgia Bulldogs have a rare good chance to take the Tulane Greenies over the hump on Friday. They have won the Tulane game in New Orleans, the goose hangs high and all's right with the world.

An football team in that attitude is very likely indeed to find itself on the short end of the evening and the second guesses begin to flow.

Tulane's starting backfield the Mason Dixon section has seen in some years. Maybe quite a few. Tech's tackles were never in the game. They were grabbing at shadows, so it was the starting tempo in the first half at New Orleans Saturday. But there it was.

Mr. Gene Smith and Mr. Chick Shiver were in the press box, very downcast indeed as the results ticked down Jacksonville, but jolting down things in the notebook just the same.

And so I imagine that Harry Mehre and Frank Thomas will be working with the stuff Tulane showed Tech, which was plenty, as the boys say. And if the Tulane play that was so effective against Tech cannot be stopped by Georgia's tackle playing as if he meant it and a defensive halfback who knows what to do then I am wrong. Which has happened before.

BETTER TACKLES.
Georgia's tackles, however, will be stouter than Tech's. The line should play a more vigorous and determined fashion.

Yale and Georgia Will Meet in 1930

Athens, Ga., October 28.—(AP)—Yale and the University of Georgia will meet in the Yale bowl at New Haven, Conn., on October 11, 1930, Dr. S. V. Sanford, faculty chairman of athletics, announced tonight.

Dr. Sanford, who also is president of the Southern conference, said arrangements had just been completed for the eighth meeting of the two universities on the gridiron.

He announced at the same time that the Yale Athletic Association had accepted only $7,500 for its share of the gate receipts of the Yale-Georgia game here two weeks ago. The contest, dedicated to the new Sanford stadium and won by Georgia, 15 to 0, Dr. Sanford said the amount was the same Georgia had received in New Haven last year.

Yale's action in accepting such a small share of the gate was warmly praised by Dr. Sanford and other members of the athletic board.

"Yale won thousands of friends on its appearance in the south, and the fact that the great share of the receipts from the game was left to Georgia will win additional praise from Georgia alumni and friends the country over," he said.

Running Game Is Backbone of Strong Attack, Zuppke Says

Trick Plays, Pass Are Not Consistent

Aerial Heaves Are Okay in Midfield But Usually Count for Naught at Goal.

By Robert C. Zuppke,

Illinois University Football Coach.

Champaign, Ill., October 28.—(AP) Running, good kicking and good ball handling are the factors that decide big football games. The feints, hidden balls, spinner plays and other offensive variations look great against weak teams, but they work only spasmodically against a team that is in your class.

Like infantry in war, the running game is the backbone of a strong attack. The forward pass is always a gamble and many times is a boom-crang when it is intercepted. The pass should be more than a threat, but it cannot form the foundation of a successful offense. The pass is good for middle field football, but near the goal line you need some brute strength.

ABOUT THE BAD ONES.

We hear much of the passing win a game but little about the toss that loses it. Intercepted passes are far more costly than the average person realizes. I was greatly interested to note that although Nebraska completed 5 out of 13 passes against Missouri, 5 other throws were intercepted by the Tigers. It is true that Nebraska tied the score in the last minutes by a pass but one wonders what might have happened if the Cornhuskers had elected other methods and had not given Missouri the opportunity to intercept those passes.

Notre Dame is erroneously credited with being a pass team, but the truth is Rockne bears down on the running game. In the closing minutes of the first half of the Michigan-Illinois game, Captain Truskowski, of Michigan, passed 44 yards to Hewitt. Fortunately for us, Timm, a fine defensive as well as offensive back, downed him on his 15-yard line.

"CATY-CORNER" VARIETY.

Michigan's passes were of the "caty-corner" variety—from one side of the field to the other. We warned our secondary men to watch out for them and in the second half Walker intercepted a pass and ran 32 yards, paving the way for the second Illinois touchdown, which made our lead secure.

This shows that the pass is often a gamble. On one pass Michigan threatened to score. On the other, the Wolverines lost heavily.

Don't think that I am criticizing Coach Kipke for using the pass. He had to take the chance just the same as the rest of us. Kipke has improved his line of defense remarkably, and considering Michigan's bad start at Purdue, the Wolverines are full of juice and if they retain their morale they will improve considerably.

Both teams probably should have taken more chances with the pass, but they held on to the ball. This is usually a sign of respect for the other team. Neither went into the game with daring and abandonment because memories of reverses in the past inspired caution between traditional rivals. Michigan played good football most of the time and Kipke is welding his material into a cohesive mass.

A JOKE TO HIM. I was amused to see in a Detroit newspaper letters complaining that the Michigan coach did not use some high school players of great reputation on the prep gridiron. What a joke. High school and college football are entirely different.

A player comes to college with a great "rep" but the coach sees that as a tackle, blocker and defensive player he cannot be trusted. Put him in the secondary and bang will go your ball game.

At Illinois we have our best smashing fullback possibility, good enough for the varsity on offense, playing with our reserves, until he learns to do something besides carry the ball.

We were all glad to see Doug Mills, a fine player who has never received the credit due him, come into his own. Mills, who tied Iowa by a smart run, caught a Michigan punt and ran 60 yards for our first touchdown. Mills, a senior, is playing quarterback for the first time—against his personal inclination. He is improving as a field general. Despite the wise nodding of heads, Frosty Peters did not play, as we said. You can't play a cripple.

After the Iowa-Illinois tie, I told Coach Burt Ingwersen that Iowa had a good team and didn't know it. I felt Iowa would beat Wisconsin and the Hawkeyes deserved the victory they won. Ingwersen's team is well taught in the fundamentals, to which it is always wise to adhere, and has a more powerful backfield than Illinois. For instance, if Ingwersen can improve his punting and passing game, the Hawkeyes will cause much trouble.

The big surprise was Indiana, which not only tied Ohio State but outplayed the Buckeyes and deserved to win. Of course Sam Willaman was up against a fierce problem to convince his players that Indiana was not anything but a setup. It is hard to blame players for this. Sometimes even a coach cannot convince himself that a team which has shown poorly is dangerous.

I admire Pat Page for rallying his Hoosiers after three defeats. Nothing is so hard to restore as morale. Ohio State beat Michigan by the forward pass but this weapon failed Saturday. Indiana struck its best blow on the last play from scrimmage when Faunce broke through and, with three Hoosiers running interference, made a fine run.

Spears Rates Banker Best Southern Back

Conference Has Galaxy of Fine Backs Says Ex-Vanderbilt Star.

By Bill Spears,

(Former All-American Quarterback, Now Vanderbilt Scout and Backfield Coach.) It has been several years since critics have faced the conundrum which must be solved within a few weeks when they begin to pick an All-Southern backfield. It was quite a problem when Alabama had Pooley Hubert, Johnny Mack Brown and Grant Gillis hugging the limelight at the exclusion of some other fine backs. Peggy Flournoy, Doug Wycoff and Ike Williams played in the days of the backfields and splendid backfield men.

This season, however, offers a put as hard as any to crack, when you consider the fact that four must be picked from such an array as Bill Banker and Armstrong, of Tulane; Mizell, Thomason and Dunlap, of Tech; McEver, Dodd and Hackman, of Tennessee; Crabtree, of Florida; Downs, of Georgia; Leonard of Vanderbilt, and others of lesser fame although perhaps almost equal ability, who are scattered throughout the smaller conference elevens.

I believe that possibly Billy Banker, of Tulane, is today the most finished back in the Southern conference. I think he can do more things well than any other back playing in this section of the country. He is probably not as dangerous a runner as is Eugene McEver, of Tennessee. He is a shifty back, who can run when it comes to passing and punting. But when you add his talents it is hard to imagine a more polished backfield man or one who can do more different things well.

I have been told, and observed, that in former years most of Banker's runs were sweeping, football style, the sidelines, quite a handicap to him. For to be at anything like his best a ball-carrier must be running straight at or into the secondary defense. Then he can do more different things to deceive tacklers and if forced to use a stiff-arm gives ground to one side instead of being forced back four or five yards. Banker's stiff arm is superior to that of either McEver or Thomason, both of whom rely largely on their short, extremely powerful legs to carry them past tacklers. Neither runner is particularly elusive. But both are very hard to bring down. Against Chattanooga McEver ran straight into the arms of three defensive backs but no one of them was able to even break his stride.

McEVER DARTS

Much of McEver's effectiveness is due to his "darting" ability. He always seems to have just a little more speed in reserve, a factor which is responsible for the fact that he can nearly always get just a few yards when they are most needed. Although he never impressed me as being anything unusual as a side-stepper, in several games I have never seen him use a stiff arm, this ability to put on an extra burst of speed in a pinch makes him a very dangerous runner to make the most dangerous running back playing in the conference this year, in my opinion. He can change direction better than Thomason, who has always been handicapped because he loses most of his speed when sidestepping or changing direction.

Mizell, of Tech, is a back of the Banker type and has received better support from his mates. But running behind Tech interference, he is working under Alexander coaching. I believe Banker would be recognized as the better back.

Bobby Dodd, of Tennessee, is almost without question the finest signal caller in the south. He is also more than likely the best punter when it comes to kicking the ball out of bounds deep in enemy territory. His fine kicking has placed the Vols in scoring position more than once, and when in that position he has an almost uncanny habit of picking the right play at the right time. His mates have implicit confidence in his judgment, a confidence that I believe is a major factor in the success of their offense.

I do not believe there is a back in the conference with more promise than Mouse Leonard, the Vanderbilt sophomore. He still has much to learn and needs practice in several phases of carrying the ball out of bounds deep in enemy territory. His fine kicking has placed the Vols in scoring position more than once, and when in that position he has an almost uncanny habit of picking the right play at the right time. His mates have implicit confidence in his judgment, a confidence that I believe is a major factor in the success of their offense.

ROBY OFFERS CARD TONIGHT

Forty Rounds of Fighting on Program at City Auditorium.

All the out-of-town boxers who are to appear at the city auditorium on Roby's winter opening card have arrived. The ring is set and every detail is complete and ready for the big colored show tonight.

The advance tickets sale is the largest ever recorded for a Roby boxing show, and indications are that the auditorium will be filled to capacity. The show is billed to be staged regardless of the weather, and the building will be made entirely comfortable regardless of the elements.

From their past ring records and showing in the gymnasium, some of the best boys in the country will be seen in action on tonight's card, and it is almost a sure thing that there will be plenty of thrills during the battles. Willie Henry Johnson, middleweight champ of Dixie, is rated at the top in his division, in Battling Siki, the Altoona (Pa.) flash, he is going against one of the toughest boys in the game and Johnson will be kept quite busy during every round of the bout.

Battling P. G. the Jacksonville welter, who meets Roy Dunn in a 10-rounder, also looks every inch a fighter in his gymnasium workouts. He tips the scales at 148 pounds. He is fast and has a wallop with a wonderful kick. This bout should be one of the most interesting yet seen here. All the other bouts are top-notch, and the whole 40 rounds will be filled with hard slugging.

The auditorium ticket booths will open at 7:15 o'clock and hours are set for 8:30 o'clock exactly. Popular prices will prevail and ladies with male escorts will be admitted free.

Tarheel Squad Injuries Light

Chapel Hill, N. C., October 28.—The Tarheels came through their 38-13 victory over V. P. I. in fairly good shape, according to word today from Trainer Chuck Quinlan, and, barring injuries this week, will show virtually full strength when N. C. State invades Kenan stadium Saturday.

Captain Ray Farris and Ellis Fyall, guards, and Pat Harden, fullback, were the only casualties in the Gobblin tilt. Their injuries were not serious, according to Trainer Quinlan, and a couple of days' rest should fix them up.

North Carolina's 28-to-13 defeat of V. P. I. Saturday was the worst licking handed a Virginia Poly team in 29 years, officials of the Virginia institution said here today.

The V. P. I. coaches are convinced that their team is capable of playing better football than it showed Saturday. In substantiation of which they pointed out that their team held the strong Pennsylvania eleven to a 14 to 8 score earlier this season and really outplayed the Pennsylvanians.

Regular Job

Henry Frank, sophomore quarterback, is fairly sure of a regular job with the Syracuse team.

YALE, HARVARD AND DARTMOUTH IN BIG UPSETS

Coach Roper Surprised at Outcome of Games Along Eastern Front.

By W. W. Roper, Princeton University Football Coach. (Copyright, 1929, by The Constitution and North American Newspaper Alliance.) Princeton, N. J., October 28.

There were three startling upsets in eastern football Saturday. Dartmouth's overwhelming victory over Harvard; Yale's great game against the Army, and Princeton's fine comeback against the Navy.

I was very much surprised at the Dartmouth-Harvard game, particularly after Harvard's great game against the Army. I looked for a very close, bitter fight. Dartmouth has a more powerful team than I thought she had, with a great backfield, headed by Marsters, and a fine pair of ends. The Army game took something out of the Harvard team. Dartmouth had more drive and team in much better physical condition. The Harvard team is undoubtedly one of the strongest in this section of the country.

GREAT RALLY. Yale after being on the short side of a 13-0 score came out the victor against the Army. From the moment Booth came into the game the whole Yale team played with a snap and vigor that was hard to stop, and the Army could not stop this wringing little back, who squirmed and twisted his way to three touchdowns.

Booth also kicked all three of the Yale goals. He is certainly a wonderful little player—and he is only a sophomore.

Yale with and without Booth is like two different teams. The Army showed the effects of the Harvard game. But the two contributing causes to Yale's victory were: First, Booth; and second, the Yale team stopped Cagle's running and passing. Princeton staged a beautiful last-quarter rally against the Navy. I wasn't surprised at the outcome of the game. I was very proud of the Tigers' great playing in the fourth quarter. I had hoped to see Princeton win.

EXPECTED TO WIN.

We had several things in our favor. Princeton was the under dog because the boys had a big advantage. In addition, the Navy players had a long, tiresome train ride all the way from Annapolis, the morning of the game. The Navy undoubtedly expected to win. They could not help but underestimate the Princeton team after the Brown and Cornell games. Against the Navy the Princeton players fought splendidly. Football is 90 per cent fight any way.

Two long Navy runs were very costly. Spring got away on hold of the line for a touchdown and the other for over 40 yards. The Navy end run is a beauty. It is made from a double-wing back formation with the ball going to Spring, in the number two position. He starts in motion just before the ball is put in play. There are three backs in the interference and the two Navy guards come out.

A POWERFUL PLAY.

All in all, it is a powerful play, and it gave the Princeton team a lot of trouble. Outside of this end run, I thought the Princeton attack sharpener. In the fourth quarter with Witten and Scarlett out of the backfield, the Princeton team staged a remarkably rally. With less than eight minutes to go and the score 13-0 against them, it looked for all their fine play as if Princeton was hopelessly beaten.

But the Princeton team at this point in the game really rose to great heights. Bonnell used a 30-yard run from kick formation to the Navy's 1-yard line. The Princeton team took the ball over on the next play. Even then, they another touchdown looked almost impossible, but nothing is impossible in football, if a team has the will and determination to go out and do their best. Here MacFarland, a second-string quarterback, drove the Princeton team in great shape. He made the last touchdown, catching a long forward pass played, thrown by Lantry over the head of the Navy wing back.

It was a great game. I believe the Princeton team will improve from now on.

ELDER BIG GUN.

Notre Dame, with Knute Rockne on the sidelines, defeated an average team, 7-0. Elder, the great Notre Dame back, was the bright particular star of the game. He bore the brunt of the attack. Notre Dame looked a bit tired against Carnegie. Every year I am amazed at the team's vitality and ability to stand the long, tiresome railroad trips all over the country. About this time in the year the strain begins to tell on the Notre Dame players.

Penn had a hard time with Lehigh. The Penn players had hardly recovered from the effects of the hard California game. This game took a good deal out of the Penn team. Against Lehigh, Penn looked sluggish. Lehigh put up a great fight, but Penn was really not at its best.

A LET-DOWN.

Syracuse defeated Brown, but Brown has had a hard, difficult schedule. Princeton, Yale, Syracuse in a row, are tough assignments, with Colgate and Dartmouth to come. I wasn't very much surprised at the Fordham-Davis Elkins score. There was bound to be a let-down after the N. Y. U. game. Here Fordham outdid itself. Davis Elkins has a strong team, too.

Columbia came back in fine style against Williams. The Dartmouth-Harvard score doesn't make Columbia look so weak.

Pitt had another runaway victory. Penn State won a hard-fought victory against Lafayette. Colgate ran up a big score against Providence. Bucknell had less difficulty with Gettysburg than I anticipated.

Time and Money Wasted on Sports, Says Justice Taft

Washington, October 28.—(AP) Chief Justice Taft expressed the opinion today that the educational institutions throughout the country were using too much money in promoting athletics.

The former president said he had read with interest the report of the Carnegie Foundation for the advancement of teaching, and while unfamiliar with the facts on which the conclusions had been reached he was firmly convinced that universities and colleges were devoting money for the advancement of athletics which could more profitably be applied to education.

"The subject is one to which I have given much attention," he said. "My views on the subject were given in a speech I made last spring at the convention here of the Psi Upsilon fraternity. I believe that a great deal of time and money is being wasted on college athletics. Those who have given particular study to the subject are agreed, I think, that the turning point has been passed in our scholarship standards, and that we are on the upgrade," he added.

Champ Advances At Pinehurst

Pinehurst, N. C., October 28.—(United News.)—Robert Crossland, of Charlotte, defending champion, moved to the third round in singles play in the sixth mid-south tennis tournament at the Pinehurst Country Club here today, defeating J. P. Lynch, New York, 6-0, 6-0, and Alfred Brown, Franklin, Pa., 6-1, 6-1.

The field as the tournament began today was the strongest in its history. Duke and University of North Carolina are represented by four and six stars. University of North Carolina's Wilmer Hines, Columbia, S. C., southern junior champion, and E. K. Graham, Alfred Brown, Lenoir Wright, William Merritt and E. D. Yeomans were counted as threatening Crossland's title.

Duke entered Grady Frank and three natives of the New York district, Gene Phillips, Jack Meyers and Andrew Bickett.

One Good Tackle

Fifteen lettermen and an abundance of sophomores did not, however, solve Missouri's problems, for only one good tackle turned out for the first practice.

ROPER PRAISES MILES AS BACK AT PRINCETON

Famous Coach Recalls Five Greatest Backfield Stars of 1928.

By W. W. Roper, Princeton Football Coach. (Copyright, 1929, by The Constitution and North American Newspaper Alliance.)

Last fall was a great season for backs in the east. Some years certain linemen stand out most prominently, but in 1928 the backs seemed to have the edge.

The best of a very fine lot were Cagle, Harpster and Strong were brilliant. As a pass receiver I have rarely seen his equal. He gave a wonderful exhibition how to catch a forward pass in the Cornell game. Time after time he outran the Cornell backs, completely and recovered Shober's long passes.

Miles differed from the other backs in that he shone mainly for defensive work. He was a wonderful back on the defense, having an uncanny ability to size up opponents' plays, and while he hit the ball carrier he "rocked 'em and socked 'em" to the queen's taste. In his senior year Miles proved himself quite a ball carrier. He was

Ten Teams Stand Out in Race for National Grid Honors

LEADERS FACE STERN TESTS NEXT SATURDAY

Tennessee and Tulane Rated as Best Among Dixie Elevens.

By L. S. Cameron, United News Staff Correspondent.

New York, October 28.—(United News.)—As the football season approaches the half-way mark the championship situation is becoming clarified and tonight ten teams stand out in bold relief.

Dartmouth and Pitt in the east, Notre Dame, Purdue and Minnesota in the middle west, Missouri and Nebraska in the Missouri valley, Tulane and Tennessee in the south and Southern California on the Pacific coast have established themselves as the nation's leading collegiate elevens.

That these teams will maintain their ranking throughout the balance of this season of surprising upsets is unlikely and the prospect of establishing definitely a 1929 national champion is remote. Many defeated teams have shown real ability and any or all of the present leaders conceivably may strike an off day against an inspired opponent which will result in their downfall.

Dartmouth, led by its great quarterback, Marsters, looks like one of the really great teams of recent years. Saturday it will face Albion Booth and his Yale team and, if the Blue can rise to the heights shown against the Army, Dartmouth's record may be marred.

PITT FACES TEST. Pittsburgh has played only two first-class opponents—Nebraska and West Virginia—but has piled up impressive scores in all its games to date. Saturday's game with Ohio State will go far in clinching Pitt's claim to ranking as an outstanding team.

Southern California's victory over Stanford stamped the Trojans as the greatest football team the coast has seen since California's "elder team" of 1922. Coach Howard Jones' vision and national championship honors. Saturday's game with Tulane will definitely decide the coast race while the November 16 battle with Notre Dame may have an important bearing on national honors.

The south has more than its share of strong teams but Tulane and Tennessee are the class of the lot. Tulane's 20-14 victory over Georgia Tech made the New Orleans team a favorite to win Southern conference honors, while Tennessee gave a great exhibition of strength in swamping Washington and Lee. Six teams in the conference are undefeated, but on comparative records Tulane

Booth, Yale 'Townie,' Now Hero of Old Eli

"Albie's" Fight Against Army Team Won Him Place in Thousands of Hearts.

By Frank Getty, United News Sports Editor.

New York, October 28.—(United News.)—Something happened up at New Haven on Saturday which removed all trace of the unpleasant taste left by the Carnegie Foundation's massive report of commercialism in American college athletics.

A sturdy little "townie," as they call the New Haven-born boys at dear old Yale, weighing exactly 144 pounds, went into the game in the second quarter with the Army leading, 13 to 0, and turned a palpable rout into glorious victory.

Little "Albie" Booth, diminutive among the giants in moleskin all around him, put on as great an individual performance as ever has been seen on a football field, scored three touchdowns, practically single-handed, kicked three goals, and beat the Army, 21 to 13.

They don't care much for "townies" at dear old Yale. The "townies" hang on the campus fence or sit with their folks on the front porch of the quaint old New England dwellings lining Chapel street, and sometimes shout names at the heroes in Eli blue.

"Albie" is Here. But they care for "Albie" Booth, for "Albie" is Yale football for 1929. Moreover, he is not one of those subsidized athletes mentioned so disparagingly in the Carnegie Foundation's famous "Bulletin No. 28." "Albie" is not a well-to-do, but he has saved enough to put "junior" through college, and that college is the Ivy and tradition-clad one, a few blocks from home. Yale is glad it is that college.

The tendency to exaggerate individual performance on the gridiron has been deplored on all sides, but in the case of this Yale-Army game, over-emphasis on "Albie" Booth becomes literally impossible.

Picture a Yale team trailing by two touchdowns, without a dependable ball carrier in its backfield, going steadily down to seemingly inevitable defeat, and this with the second period half over. Yale teams have done that before and will do so again.

ALL CHANGED. Now picture a youngster springing out from the sidelines, a little cuss without any stockings to protect his spindly shanks, a David among the Goliaths. From the minute "Albie" took his place in the lineup, the whole complexion of the game changed.

He took his tempo from Booth, and what a tempo it proved to be. Army kicked off. Booth grabbed the kickoff and carried back 20 yards. From then on he was driving steadily ahead until he had scored a touchdown and was on the threshold of another when the whistle ended the half.

A flash in the pan? Not "Albie." The third period found him at work again, leading the attack, inspiring his teammates, now aroused to fight as they hadn't fought before this season, playing safety man on the defense, thus saving his 144 pounds every play.

"TOWNIE" IS TOUGH. The Army had a chance to smash this little burst of energy into the turf on about three out of four plays. Two or three Army forwards, playing cleanly but savagely, would hurt themselves upon him when he carried the ball. But who was the first of the lot to bound to his feet after such savage tackles and pileups? No one but this tireless little "townie" who was making football history there across the chalklines while 80,000 spectators looked on in mingled amazement and hysteria.

No one could stop Booth, not even the ponderous tone of the Carnegie Foundation. If "Albie" had been paid $1,000,000 for Saturday's performance, he would have earned the money. As a matter of fact, his leadership and forced play were a play on the Carnegie Foundation's sweeping charges. You forgot about "commercialism," watching this little youngster tearing the defenses of 200-pound giants to pieces, inspiring his mates and winning a great game single-handed.

The secret of "Albie" Booth's success, from a technical football point of view, is that he looks up when he shoots towards the line. Now, looking up, in football, has cost almost as much of a thousand-shill not as the same offense is in golf. A back carrying the ball, particularly a Yale back, is supposed to go down with his eyes called for him to go. If he looks up against his interference, why that's just too bad, but he isn't scolded.

PICKED HIS PATH. Time after time, Booth would start off with the ball, head down, sprinting behind his interference, and then he would see his head snap up, and he would pick an opening without an instant's hesitation, side-step, and shoot through. And when they tackled him, those 200-pounders, they thought they had grabbed an electric eel, for "Albie" was stabbing forward with his 144 pounds, gaining yards after he supposedly was properly stopped.

There have been and will be bigger and better all-around backs than "Albie" Booth. But for his pounds I would rank him with the greatest of them all. He not only can carry a ball just about as effectively from scrimmage as anyone now playing football, but he can kick and pass with the best of 'em.

What a game it's going to be next Saturday at Yale bowl—Booth against Al Marsters, of Dartmouth.

Purdue and Wisconsin meet again this year, 35 years after a famous game at Lafayette, Ind. In those days the coaches of the two teams were as officiated as referees and umpires. With the Purdue man umpiring in the second half Wisconsin objected to a decision he had made and left the field. Purdue was leading, 6 to 0.

The man who figured in the decision was Captain Lyman, of Wisconsin. He was thrown out for slugging.

JACKETS TAKE LIGHT DRILL; MAREE BETTER

Alexander Delivers Pointed Lecture to Squad. Cripples Improve.

By Herb Clark. "Take it easy—loosen up!" was the order of the day at Grant field Monday afternoon as the Yellow Jackets took their first workout in preparation for the coming of the Irish Express.

The Jackets returned from New Orleans and the Saturday battering of the Green Wave in good shape. Business was almost at a standstill in the training room Monday afternoon.

Vance Maree brought his ankle in for inspection. He got little attention, and after a long-delayed massage, walked out bawling the fact.

Earl Dunlap and Russ Swartz, newly initiated into the "Cripple Club," were lolling under the lamps having knees bled. Both will don wadding clothes this afternoon.

Stumpy Thomason, Warner Mizell and Doug Graydon did not even show up, indicating that they are evidently all well.

Notables To See Tech-Irish Game

Distinguished persons will be on hand Saturday afternoon when Georgia Tech rambles out on Grant field to meet the Irishmen of Notre Dame.

The famous drum corps of Betty Harrison Jones Chapter, Atlanta, will escort the commander to the game and give a drill between halves. The drum corps has won national championships at the Detroit and Denver conventions. Accompanying the national figures to the game will be William E. Tate, of Atlanta, past national commander, C. B. McCullar, of Milledgeville, state commander, and O'Leary, commander of the local chapter.

Atlanta Wins Medal in Tournament at Radium Springs.

Albany, Ga., October 28.—(AP)—Paced by Mrs. W. D. Doak and Miss Martha Maddox, of Atlanta, five Atlanta and four Albany women golfers landed in the championship flight of the annual Radium Springs women's invitation golf tournament today.

Florida placed two representatives in the first flight, while the remaining five contestants in the select circle were from other Georgia cities.

Mrs. Doak won the qualifying medal with a 91, only one stroke under Miss Maddox, who entered the tournament the favorite. The southern women's champion was five strokes ahead of Mrs. Keaton Rodwell, of Savannah, who had a 97.

Pairings for the first round of match play tomorrow will be: Mrs. Doak, Albany, vs. Mrs. Jerome Brown, Albany. Mrs. Y. G. Hilsman, Albany, vs. Mrs. Betty Wolvin, St. Petersburg. Miss Helen Blouth, Albany, vs. Mrs. Carlyle Fraser, Atlanta.

Miss Kennon Rodwell, Savannah, vs. Mrs. C. W. Moore, Milledgeville. Mrs. Robert F. J. St. Petersburg, vs. Mrs. O. B. Keeler, Atlanta.

Miss Martha Bell, Atlanta, vs. Mrs. F. C. Brown, Brunswick. Mrs. R. W. Mason, Thomasville, vs. Mrs. Bobby Gordon, Albany.

First round play will begin at 9:30 a. m.

Garrett Wins At East Lake

Dr. W. A. Garrett, with a net of 70, won the quarterly golf tournament of the Fifth District Dental Society Monday afternoon over the East Lake course. Dr. Garrett had a gross of 97, less a 27 handicap. Second prize was won by Dr. G. A. Mitchell, with a net of 74.

Major Dieber, of Fort McPherson, won the low gross prize with an 89. It was the first time he has competed and his score did not count in the annual low gross competition, which will be decided next May.

It was a quarterly dinner tournament of the dentists in the fifth district and there were 41 players in the one-day medal play tournament, despite unfavorable weather conditions.

The players were divided into two groups, with Dr. M. D. Huff leading the side and Dr. C. N. Hughes leading the other. Dr. Hughes' team won and the players were guests at the dinner held Monday night at East Lake Country Club at the lower expense.

Dr. T. P. Hinman is president of the society and Dr. J. R. Mitchell is secretary.

Taylor Gets Hole-in-One.

Frank Taylor, popular municipal golfer, secured his first hole-in-one Monday morning on the Piedmont course while playing in a foursome with Clarence Wofford, E. T. Mize and Ralph Forester. Taylor used a driver on the 183-yard No. 6 hole. His tee shot landed within a few yards of the cup and rolled straight to the pin for a dodo.

Auburn Prof. Scores Dodo.

Auburn, Ala., October 27.—(AP)—Professor C. W. Reeves, of the English department of Alabama Polytechnic Institute, shot a hole-in-one Saturday afternoon while playing with three other Auburn professors. He scored a dodo on a 125-yard masher shot.

Wrestler-Manager Dies From Poison

Boston, October 28.—(AP)—Archibald Sokhikian, 38, professional wrestler and manager of wrestlers who was taken from a Montreal train here Saturday in a serious condition from septic poisoning, died yesterday at the city hospital. His friends called upon the district attorney to investigate the circumstances of his illness.

Sokhikian was said to have told physicians that he scratched his knee in a match at Hamilton, Ont., October 14. Stanislaus Zhyzsko was understood to have been his opponent in the bout.

Friends of Sokhikian want the district attorney's office to ascertain for what reason Sokhikian, who apparently was in a dying condition, was placed on the train for the trip to Boston.

Landis To Investigate Yankee Pitching Deal

Asheville, N. C., October 28.—(United News.)—Judge Kennesaw Mountain Landis, professional baseball arbiter, is expected here Wednesday to investigate a reported "undercover" deal whereby John Allen, star Asheville Sally league pitcher, was purchased and later sold to the New York Yankees this year, the United News learned today.

Asheville officials refused to discuss the matter. Landis will query baseball officials here Thursday, it was said.

Allen was an outstanding pitcher on the Asheville team this season. He was obtained from the defunct Raleigh club of the Piedmont league. In 1928 Allen played in the Eastern Carolina league.

Johnny New, Yankee scout, bought him from Asheville for a reported $7,500. The alleged "undercover" irregularity is a serious offense, it was said, and if proved, Landis can impose heavy fines or expel offending parties from professional baseball.

Knute Reported Greatly Weakened by Arduous Carnegie Tech Game.

Notre Dame, Ind., October 28.—Coach Knute and his regulars and shock troops took a day off today to rest up from the bruising clash with Carnegie before starting serious practice for Saturday's battle with Georgia Tech at Atlanta.

The team returned from Pittsburgh in fine shape but the same cannot be said of the coach who remained in bed all day and who was reported greatly weakened by the trip and the strain of the close battle with the Skilboos. The assistant coaches had the first stringers tomorrow. The big problem of the coaches is to prevent a letdown in view of Tech's defeat at the hands of Tulane, as it is reticent here that the Golden Tornado, while it may have been zipped last Saturday, is sure to rise in cyclonic fury against the Irish. Trainer Joe Abbott reported all crimples ironed out and since there were no additions to the list as a result of the Skilbo clash there will be no alibis Saturday.

Frank Leahy, regular tackle, may not get into the game but he will be the only absentee unless this week's scrimmages bring new casualties.

Tulane Given Hard Workout

New Orleans, La., October 28.—Tulane Greenvies went through a hard workout Monday afternoon despite a muddy field in preparation for the invasion of Georgia this week.

The Greenvies came out of the Tech game in splendid shape and only one man is doubtful of playing against the Georgia Bulldogs at Columbus on Friday.

This Jack Pizzano, fullback alternate for Ford Sewews. Late in the game, Pizzano suffered a badly cut lower lip and several stitches had to be taken. If Pizzano plays he will have to wear some kind of protection about the lower part of his face.

Other than that, every Greenvie answered the call for practice, and Coach Bierman lost little time in making it plain that Georgia is a very tough foe.

Think that Georgia is stronger than Florida? Coach Bierman said today, "despite the fact that Florida beat the Bulldogs, Georgia had to let up after those two hard games with Alabama and Kentucky. I expect them to be ready and at their best for us. Tulane has as tough a game as it had facing it on Saturday."

Coach Bierman was highly satisfied with the way the Tulane team functioned against Georgia Tech. The line play was splendid and the offense through Hughes leading the line, Armstrong, Ford Sewews and Dick Baumbach was magnificent.

The Tulane coach will line up his men for Georgia the same as for Tech. The backfield mentioned above will start and the line will be as follows: Dalrymple and Holland, ends; McCracken and Rucker, tackles; Bodony and McCormick, guards, and Roberts, center.

Service Heads Plan Meeting

Washington, October 28.—(AP)—Major General William R. Smith, superintendent of the West Point Military academy, and Rear Admiral Samuel S. Hobbins, of the Annapolis Naval academy, will meet here this week to discuss their long-standing football differences.

Secretaries Good reiterated today, however, that suggestions that the two academies would resume their football relations, suspended since 1927, in a post-season game this year were absolutely unfounded.

As far as West Point is concerned, he said, such a game is out of the question and it would be foolish to attempt to arrange it.

Handball Tourney Slated at Emory

Emory university's annual handball tournament will get under way about November 10 as the entries close November 7, and play will begin soon thereafter as the pairings can be made.

At present 19 men are entered in the tournament and at least that many more are expected to be before the entries close. A gold medal will be given to the winner and a silver medal will go to the runner-up. Instructions are being given to all men who are interested in learning how to play handball at the Emory Y. M. C. A. each afternoon from 2 until 3 o'clock.

The entries so far are as follows: Gurne, Etheridge, Ott, Underwood, Blum, Stubbs, Hughes, Stephens, Bilbo, Hoffman, Cofer, Garmaway, Shearer, Greenberg, Fleming, Anderson, Lewis, Tennessee and Austin.

Crimson Returns.

Cambridge, Mass., October 28.—(United News.)—After a two week stay on the bench due to injuries received in scrimmage, Wally Harger, veteran halfback, returned to Harvard's varsity squad today. The Crimson coaches sent their charges through a light workout in preparation for Saturday's clash with the strong Florida eleven at Soldiers' field.

Navy Rests.

Annapolis, Md., October 28.—(United News.)—Although not seriously hurt by Saturday's battle with Princeton, Navy's varsity football players were given a lay-off today. Chapple, guard; Clifton, fullback; Crane, end; Chinkley, tackle, and Spring, halfback, suffered most, but all are expected to be in shape for this week's game with Penn at Philadelphia.

Webb Meets Finch.

Waycross, Ga., October 28.—(AP)—Crackpot Jack Webb, Waycross heavyweight, will fight Battling Finch in Jacksonville tomorrow night.

Webb holds the upper hand over Finch, having won a decision in a recent bout.

Georgia Alumni Meet Thursday

Georgia alumni of Atlanta and surrounding territory will meet at a luncheon Thursday at 12:30 o'clock at the Henry Grady hotel.

Plans for attendance at the Tulane-Georgia game at Columbus Friday will be formed and a general Georgia pep meeting will be held. The Georgia football team this fall has made a magnificent record and has aroused the admiration of all alumni. A full attendance is requested for Thursday.

THREE ELEVEN LEAD S. I. A. A.

Chattanooga, Citadel and Spring Hill at Top of Title Heap.

Chattanooga, Citadel and Spring Hill, with three victories and no defeats each, continued to lead the pack of S. I. A. A. football teams after Saturday afternoon's dust had cleared away on southern gridirons. Chattanooga is defending its 1928 title.

Merced supplied the topic for much discussion over the week-end after a hard game with Chattanooga. The Moravians took the Baptists to ride on a 7-0-0 score but had no easy time. Citadel also met with more opposition than was expected, but eked out a 14-0-0 victory over Presbyterian.

Mike Donahue's Spring Hill eleven had little trouble in winning, 25 to 6, from Mississippi college.

Furman came back strong to take a 25-0-6 game from Wofford, and Georgetown had a breathing spell in its victory over Transylvania. Birmingham-Southern also had an easy afternoon with a 31-0-0 victory over Union, and Miami won another victory over Rollins.

The Petrels of Oglethorpe celebrated their dedication game with a 20-0-12 victory over Dayton university at Hernando stadium. Auburn won another of its exceptional victories, 6-0, over Howard, and Centre was shut out, 23 to 0, by the Kentucky Wildcats. Detroit liked Loyola, New Orleans, 26 to 0, and Western Kentucky Teachers handed Bethel a 4-0-0 lacing while Louisiana college was on the long end of a 66-0-0 score over Marshall. Erskine won another one-sided victory over Guilford, 45-6.

Big Ten Point Scorers Tied

Chicago, October 28.—(United News.)—Glen Harmon, of Purdue, entered into the leadership for Big Ten individual point scoring when he stepped through Chicago for three touchdowns and kicked two placekicks for extra points Saturday.

Harmon's total of 20 tied Art Phanner, of Minnesota, who scored the same number of points against Northwestern last Saturday, but played against a non-conference opponent yesterday.

The standing of the three leaders:

Harmon, Purdue 20 TD, 76 Pat. TP.
Phanner, Minnesota 20 TD, 76 Pat. TP.
Ymerich, Purdue 3 TD, 22 Pat. TP.

Homecoming.

New York, October 28.—(United News.)—The New York university Violets today started work for Saturday's homecoming game with Georgetown university. Captain Len Grant and Ernest Connon, who were kept out of the Butler game because of injuries, returned to the squad.

INSTALLMENT XVI.

THE CHIEF STRIKES.

Dorling had left the house at Mort-vag just as Malleron rejoined Warren.

"I had lost you," said Warren with a touch of irritation. "It's no use our waiting here. It won't be hours on this job. Unless he finds anything, we shan't be able to do much. In any case I shall not be needed. If you're ready, we'll start. He's waiting."

The boat, a small motor launch, was waiting at the rough wooden pier and took them to the destroyer, which at once headed due northwest at full steam.

"I confess, my dear Warren, that this part of your program baffles me," said Malleron, producing a field glass. "You can't hope to keep pace with the airplane—though I admit I have no mechanical knowledge."

"The idea is, that as far as possible, the destroyer shall keep in touch with the airplane," explained Warren. "The H. A. E. is a fast ship, and, wireless their position. There's another hundred miles out at sea. If Dorling doesn't find this island of his—it may be a question of picking them up."

"Dear me!" grunted Malleron. "Very interesting! But a little confusing. I rather fancy, my dear Warren, that you are beginning to doubt the existence of this island."

He chuckled as if, he too, had begun to share the doubt, and Warren made no answer.

For half an hour or more the destroyer cut its way through the waves, the bridge, to which they had both Malleron leaped against the rail on been invited. He was facing shorewards, scanning the sky with his glasses.

"Ah! Here comes our young friend!" he exclaimed.

Warren was wholly uninterested in the details of the flight and wondered at Malleron's enthusiasm. He was busy with his own thoughts and musings, but unconsciously he was watching Malleron.

Malleron was absorbed in his contemplation of the overcast sky. Warren, without taking conscious notice, became aware that Malleron's glasses kept turning to the north. Idly he looked to the north, but could see nothing.

"He's ten miles away, I suppose—or would it be less?" said Malleron. "O, less. Much less. Three or four miles, I should say. I can see the government machine now, following him."

The glasses were turned again towards the north. They were held in that direction for several seconds and then lowered.

"What a perfect summer we have had!" remarked Malleron. "Day after day of this fine, still weather. It must be a boon to our airmen."

The roar of the airplane could now be heard above the roar and clatter and the general din of the destroyer.

Before the roar had died down there was a second roar—that of the government machine. It passed high above the ship at great speed, as if in pursuit of its quarry.

"How the eyes deceive when one is looking towards the sky!" remarked Malleron—and Warren wondered at his sudden garrulosity. "It seems to me as if the government plane is striving level with Dorling and even overtaking him."

"Looks like it," said Warren indifferently. "I never studied the technique of flying."

At first glance all the young ladies look alike; but you are asked to find the Twins that are clothed exactly alike. Now then: upon closer examination you will find a difference in their wearing apparel. Have they all earrings or necklaces? How about their coats and hats? Are they trimmed the same? Some have bands on the brim and crowns, others have not. Maybe the difference is just the buttonhole in the lapel of the coat.

It takes real care and cleverness to point out the difference and find the two real Twins, because two and only two are identically the same.

When you have found the twins, write the numbers in the coupon at right, fill in your name and complete address and

English Cotton Industry
Special Weekly Report

Manchester, England.—(By Mail.)—Spinners and manufacturers in the Lancashire cotton industry are finding it difficult to make real progress towards better conditions. From day today a persistent inquiry in yarn and cloth is being met with and in small lines a fair trade is being done. The market, however, misses the bulk buying of many years back which, in those days, strengthened the position of producers quickly, and enabled sellers to stiffen in quotation. It seems impossible to bring to an end the fact that Manchester is a buyers' market all the time.

Sentiment in raw cotton circles remains bearish. With regard to American cotton considerable hedge selling has taken place and trading buying has not been sufficient to absorb the pressure from sellers. It is expected, however, that the lowest values this time round will be seen about the end of the year. American cotton is now feeling more than ever the competition from other growths and it is significant that the spot sales in Liverpool for some time past have consisted of a substantial amount "outside" cottons, chiefly Sudan Sakels.

PIECE GOODS STRONG.

The undercurrent of demand in piece goods has continued fairly extensive. Business has been varied and has covered a wide range of cloths, the orders coming from numerous outlets. Buying for India has been rather quiet, partly due to the fact that the opinion is held, however, that owing to more satisfactory clearances in the bazaar, further purchases will be made in the near future. Cables report that at the "Lucky Day" sales, which were held in Calcutta last week-end, 5,000 to 6,000 packages of cloth were sold. In a few days the total was easily 40,000 packages, so the importance of "Lucky Day" has declined to a large extent. It is supposed, however, that with regard to China trade, although some advances from Shanghai have been slightly better. Certain manufacturers have recently not been encouraging support from Java, Singapore and the Philippines and from day to day fair sales have taken place. Buyers, however, are proceeding cautiously, for there is still no fear of higher raw cotton rates. There has been rather more activity for Egypt owing to the possibility of higher tariff early next year. Without individual contracts being important a useful trade continues to be done for South America and the Continent. Yarn Puzzles.

Diverse reports are being received from the yarn market. Some American spinners are deriving a certain amount of benefit from longer order lists and reduced stocks, but others cannot be eliminated from the market and the prices ruling are very unsatisfactory. Inquiry in Egyptian yarns has expanded considerably, but interest, has been irregular. It is still difficult for producers to sell without incurring a financial loss. Taking the market as a whole, there are no indications of any development in the situation which is likely to result in higher prices. The pressure to sell raw cotton is still very strong, with every sign of prices sagging. At the moment there is no indication for buyers of yarn and cloth to anticipate further.

M. M. Ainsworth.

M. M. Ainsworth, the chief trade commissioner in India, is now in Manchester with a view to discussing trade possibilities in that country. His opinion is that Lancashire's trade prospects in India depend on whether producers are able to reduce their costs to enable them to compete with the increased competition of Japan in gray goods and artificial silk cloths and of Italy in dyed and colored goods and artificial silks. He said he was holding his own in bleached cloths, though present methods prevented any great expansion in the total trade.

Japanese Competition.

In the staple lines of gray shirtings Japanese competition continued very intense, and Japan having standard quality, which would be more and more difficult as the years passed to dislodge them. No meeting has yet been held of the government committee which is to inquire into the conditions in the cotton industry.

It is reported that the concern of John Bright Brothers, Ltd., of Rochdale, is to be purchased from Crosses & Winkworth Consolidated Mills, Ltd., by John Slater.

He is taking over the mills near Bolton, which is a syndicate. Mr. Slater was formerly a well-known playing member of the Bolton Wanderers Football Club, and later became a member of the Stoke City Football Club. He has carried through many big deals involving large sums and is a director of coal, iron and steel companies.

New York, October 28.—(AP)—

Irregularity marked the course of bond prices in today's market. The enormous liquidation of stocks led to the selling of some obligations of secondary grade to provide for the cashing of margin accounts, and only bonds of prime investment merit were able to make progress. Even this group was with the spot.

Four issues of United States treasury certificates sold at new highs for the year, reflecting the character of the demand in view of the shaky condition of confidence. Liberty bonds were steady.

The Associated Press averages showed a first grade rail bond at 92.38, a slight advance from yesterday's closing, although the secondary rails, utilities and industrial bonds declined, although the recessions were small. Volume of trading was below that of last Thursday, when the movement of prices was similar to today's.

Some of the stock values, however, dealers are confident that the young but healthy bull market in bonds will be rapidly expanded. Floating supply of the best issues is limited, while the demand is increasing. The most striking feature of the day's trading was the sale of 100,000 1st grade rails at 92.38, a slight advance from yesterday's closing, although the secondary rails, utilities and industrial bonds declined, although the recessions were small. Volume of trading was below that of last Thursday, when the movement of prices was similar to today's.

session was the drastic slump of the convertibles. As quoted values of the shares melted away, the first return obligations exchangeable for stocks tumbled precipitately and the close found American Telephone 4-1-2s off 34 1/4 points to 150. International Telephone 4-1-2s crashed 29 points to 120. Atchafalaya 1-2s showed a net loss of $1.25. Public Service of New Jersey 4-1-2s declined 17 1/2, and most of the other active issues from 3 to 7 points.

Among the low coupon rails there were nominal gains in Rock Island 4-1-2s, Great Northern 4-1-2s, Illinois Central 4-1-2s, Chicago & Alton 4-1-2s, New York Central general 4-1-2s, Pennsylvania general 4-1-2s, and Union Pacific 4-1-2s. Larger gains developed in some of the big four issues.

Easier prices showed in a large number of industrials, including American Smelting & Electric, Sugar, Armour 4-1-2s and 5-1-2s, Cattle Co. 4-1-2s, International Cement, Fisk Rubber 8s (off 10), Marion Steam Shovel 6s, North American Cement 4-1-2s and Youngstown Sheet and Tube 5s.

The utilities were fairly steady, but such issues as American Telephone & Telegraph, Edison & New England Telephone & North American Edison 5-1-2s declined. New York Telephone refunded 6s and 4-1-2s, Lehigh Valley 4-1-2s, Duquesne Light 4-1-2s and Consolidated Gas of New York 5-1-2s worked higher.

The foreign group was soft. Brazilian and San Paulo State issues declined sharply in reflection of the coffee situation. French Government 4-1-2s and the German 4-1-2s, public 7s were among the few foreign bonds showing strength.

Alleged Slighting of Booths Threatens Fight in Ranks Of Salvation Army Heads

Members of Founder's Family Assigned to Unimportant Posts or None at All Is Charge.

BY KEITH JONES.

United News Staff Correspondent.

London, October 28.—Discontentment has crept into the higher ranks of the Salvation Army, with the bare possibility that a high council may be summoned here to deal with the situation.

Edward J. Higgins, commander-in-chief of the 38,000 officers in 80 countries and territories, has been charged with the duty of issuing a statement in a few days if the situation does not improve.

Higgins was elected to the highest post in the Salvation Army after the late General Bramwell Booth was deposed last January. Since then the Booth family leadership allegedly has dwindled, except that Commander Evangeline Booth, head of the army in the United States and friend of the new regime, has held her ground.

It was learned today that hundreds of names have been secured to a petition attacking the new regime, and that the petitioners are determined to prevent the army from being split by open rebellion. The petitioners are determined to prevent the army from being split by open rebellion. The petitioners are determined to prevent the army from being split by open rebellion.

The discontented group asserted that no member of the Booth family was detailed at present to speak at public meetings. It gave the following resume of what has happened to the famous abolitionist family since Higgins came into power:

Colonel Mary Booth, second daughter of Bramwell Booth and former head of the army in Germany, has no appointment.

Commissioner Catherine Booth, eldest daughter of Bramwell Booth, has been relieved of many duties including supervision of the monthly army magazine "The Deliverer."

Commissioner Lucy Booth-Helber, youngest daughter of William Booth and former head of the army in India, France, Switzerland, Denmark, and Norway, has been sent to South America, where there are less than 3,000 salvations.

Major Olive Booth has no appointment to an unimportant post in France.

Colonel Bernard Booth, former supervisor of all young people's army work, is now assistant in another office.

The situation has been additionally complicated by the understanding that subscriptions for annual self-denial week have fallen $250,000 below average, making the work of army administration difficult.

Higgins, through a press representative, emphatically denied that he had victimized the Booth family or created any vital change in army control.

TWO TOTALLY SERIOUSLY HURT AS AUTO PLOWS INTO GROUP

Macon, Ga., October 28.—(P)—Two small children were seriously injured, one perhaps fatally, and a past master, Macon, attending the grand lodge here, was painfully bruised here to night when an automobile driven by H. A. Weaver, Macon, plowed into a group of people on the sidewalk.

The group, on Oak and Ogilthorpe streets in Third street.

Joe Posey, about 7, received internal injuries, probably resulting from a fall, and Clara Maude Griffin, about 6, received a probable fracture of the skull and other serious injuries. The child, 64, was master from Gibson, Ga., here to attend the grand lodge, received severe bruises of the body and left leg.

One Killed, Another Hurt as Gas Truck Overtakes and Ignites

Fort Valley, Ga., October 28.—(P) One man was killed and another injured seriously here today in a truck that overturned, causing the gas tank to ignite.

The dead man was identified as a Mr. Cadenham, employed by the local telephone exchange, and his companion, who was driving the truck, was Stirling Sanders, also employed by the telephone exchange.

Deputy sheriff who investigated the wreck said a wheel of the truck on which the men were hauling telephone poles, came off, causing the machine to overturn.

Both men were single and 25 years old.

Drew Drew for Coin But Spoons Fell Out In New York Cafe

New York, October 28.—(United News.)—James Drew, of Brooklyn, strode up to the cashier's counter in a Nassau street restaurant today and asked for a coin.

Out of his pocket dropped a spoon. "Tut, tut," said Drew, "how forgetful of me."

"Accidents will happen," agreed Gus Plakis, manager of the eating house, picking up the spoon.

Drew, somewhat nervous, reached again for his money pocket. He came two knives, three forks and four more spoons.

When police arrived they found a sugar bowl in Drew's coat pocket. He is held for special sessions court.

VONBUELOW, FAMOUS GERMAN ENVOY, DIES

Rome, October 28.—(United News) Prince Bernhard von Buelow, former German ambassador, died today at an illness of several months.

King Victor Emmanuel sent condolences to the prince's family. Funeral services will be held here Thursday, at which the body will be sent to Gross Flotbeck, near Hamburg, where Von Buelow was born 80 years ago.

Inheriting his ideas of old-world diplomacy from his father, Bernhard Ernst von Buelow, Prussian minister and secretary of foreign affairs, Von Buelow served in diplomatic posts in Russia, Austria, Greece, France and finally Italy.

In 1897 he was appointed secretary of state in the foreign office and three years later became chancellor of Germany. The nine years that followed were known as the Buelow era, in which the chancellor cleverly handled the divergent factions in the reichstag and instituted many conservative policies.

He incurred the displeasure of Emperor Wilhelm II, however, by suggesting the kaiser refrain from making himself conspicuous with his aggressiveness. He resigned in 1909 when his financial reforms were rejected, and during the war the kaiser refused to consider his appointment.

After Germany found itself encircled by hostile nations, Von Buelow's former policies were blamed, although he contained in a book of memoirs published in 1915 that he had been chancellor in 1914 the war would never have been declared.

In December of 1914 he received a chance to glorify himself. He was sent to Rome, where he had been ambassador from 1893 to 1897, in an effort to bring Italy into the war on the side of Germany. Italy had been a member of the triple alliance with Austria and Germany, but despite Von Buelow's pleadings cast her lot with the allies.

The former chancellor returned heart-broken and empty-handed to Germany, and from then on his power waned, although he always continued following who he believed he was the man who could have saved Germany if given opportunity.

NEGRO HIT-RUN DRIVER IS SOUGHT; 3 PERSONS HURT

The police Monday night were searching for a negro whose reckless handling of an automobile early Monday night sent three persons to Grady hospital for treatment of injuries, and was indirectly responsible for damage to four automobiles.

Mrs. R. F. Steed, of 1692 Stewart avenue early Monday night, accompanied by her daughter, Miss Annie Steed, 19, and Tom Spite, 32, both of 208 W. 12th St., were driving a Ford when they were struck by a machine driven by an unidentified negro as both machines attempted to make a left turn into Athens street.

The Ford, a 1925 model, was driven by Grady and allowed to collide with the other machine driven by an unidentified negro as both machines attempted to make a left turn into Athens street.

The crash was slightly bruised in the chest, Spite receiving lacerations on the head and neck. Both were treated at Grady and allowed to return home. Mrs. Steed was uninjured.

A few minutes later the negro's machine, which was a 1925 Ford, was struck by another machine driven by a white man, who was also injured. The machine was driven by a white man, who was also injured.
